Ominous Outlook Is Developing For Germany And Japan

Interpretation By Kirke L. Simpson (Wide World War Analyst)

Ominous developments for Germany and Japan alike marked the mid-August week-end not only of the battlefronts in Europe and across the Pacific, but deep behind the fighting lines where bitter medicine in ever increasing doses is being Russian and Allied brewed for the foe.

There could be left little doubt in the minds of the military leaders at both ends of the now tattered, ragged Nazi-Nipponese Axis that in both zones the war was building up to decisive crises. The day when Germany and Japan alike will be stripped of their territorial loot, and will be besieged within their lairs is no longer distant.

That was sufficiently clear on the war maps as they stood this week-end. It showed up in the still ballooning Allied drive in France that has doubled, redoubled, and redoubled again the pressure on Germany from the west.

It was to be read into Allied reports from Italy that told of the Germans withdrawing all their forces from Florence. The signs were plain there not only that General Alexander, Allied field commander, was shifting and readjusting his forces for an assault on the mountain-backed German Gothic defense line; but that the Mediterranean campaign was about to expand.

There were hints of impending French-Allied action along the south coast of France to worry the harassed foe. There were growing intimations, too, that Allied power might be preparing to capitalize on Turkey's break with Germany, to strike into the Balkan peninsula.

Both high Allied commanders in Europe have shifted their headquarters to the continent. General Eisenhower has left Britain to set up his supreme post in France. General Wilson has closed out in Algiers and moved to Italy, taking with him the command strings that run not only to Alexander's victorious legions but to

41 PARKED ENEMY PLANES SMASHED

Four Freighters Sunk And Other Shipping Heavily Damaged

WAR-JITTERY NIPPON IS SPEEDING ITS DEFENSES

By Richard C. Bergholz

GENERAL HEADQUARTERS, SOUTHWEST PACIFIC, Sunday, Aug. 13.—(AP)—A new air raid on the Philippines and a strong aerial sweep against Halmahera Island, in which 41 parked Japanese planes were destroyed or damaged and shipping was heavily hit, were reported by headquarters today.

In the Halmahera attack and air sweeps along Vogelkop peninsula, Dutch New Guinea, four 1,000-ton freighters were sunk, a 3,000-ton freighter-transport destroyed or severely damaged and coastal vessels were sunk or damaged.

Night air patrols bombed the waterfront at Davao on Mindanao, main southern island in the Philippines, Thursday night and Friday morning. Results were not announced. Two days previously, the first raids against the Philippines since April, 1942, were made in three successive night attacks against Davao airdromes.

PLANES SLASH AT GERMANY'S ARMY

No Rest Given Enemy's Men And Air Defenses In France

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Clouds of Allied tactical warplanes plunged into the battle to annihilate Germany's army in Normandy today while possibly 750 American heavy bombers lashed at airfields and communication targets in northern France in an attempt to block off any enemy forces coming to its relief.

There was no rest for enemy air defenses anywhere in France, for in addition to all this, 750 four-engined bombers from Italy raked the southern coast of France and the Italian Riviera for a distance of 125 miles and British heavyweights rained six-ton earthquake bombs on Brest's U-boat pens.

The shuttle bombers, which had been to Russia, thundered back to Britain from Italian bases, plastering an airfield five miles southwest of the southern French communications center of Toulouse en route.

Late in the day R. A. F. Lancasters swooped upon the Bay of Biscay U-boat shelters at Boreaux—last good enemy base on the Atlantic coast—and La Pallice in a continuation of the anti-submarine offensive and Halifaxes bombed a fuel dump in the forest de Mont-Richard, 60 miles from Le Mans.

The enemy's much hammered railway yards at Metz were pounded during the morning by Fortresses and Liberators.

Heavyweights also loosed their car-

High American Military Figures Arrive To Join Churchill

ROME, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Allied air might was thrown against the southern approaches to Hitler's crumbling European fortress today for the second time within 24 hours, with 750 United States heavy bombers scourging German military defenses along the southern coast of France.

There was a feeling among the public that momentous developments in the Mediterranean were impending as high American military figures arrived to join Prime Minister Churchill, who already is in Rome. The arrival of Churchill alone was interpreted by Popolo, organ of the Christian Democrat party, as a sign of the importance the Italian theater of war "may assume in the near future."

It was announced that Robert P. Patterson, undersecretary of war, and Lt. Gen. Brehon S. Somervell, com-

GERMAN FORCES LEAVE FLORENCE

Withdrawal Permits Allies To Enter Main Part Of City

STEP ALLOWS ASSISTANCE TO STRICKEN POPULATION

ROME, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Germans have pulled out of Florence, releasing Italy's most beautiful city from a vise in which it had been clutched for a week as contending armies stood on opposite banks of the Arno river, which runs through it.

A German withdrawal made under cover of darkness permitted officers of the Allied military government to enter the main part of the city north of the Arno today to assist the stricken population. There were no official reports that the Eighth army had yet crossed the stream.

Neither army shelled Florence, and only its rail yards and installations in the immediate vicinity were bombed.

First reports from officers crossing the Arno indicated the situation of the population was even worse than had been believed. Food, water and medical supplies were short, and the entire male population—except for Fascist combatants—had been confined to their homes by the Germans.

While it was too early to fully assess Florence's priceless art treasurers and monuments, they apparently were virtually intact. There was some looting.

Of Florence's famous bridges, only its most noted one of Ponte Vecchio is intact. This one was merely blocked by wrecking of buildings at both ends.

On the Adriatic front, the Germans have withdrawn across the Cesano river from Monte Porzio to the coast, a distance of more than seven miles, and the poles threw a bridgehead across the stream two miles from the sea.

Rain closed down on the Fifth army sector at the opposite end of the front, and there was little action.

Mystery Cloaks American Swing

Germans, Reversing Previous Withdrawal Tactics, Hurl All Available Reinforcements Into Normandy Bulge

By Austin Bealmear

SUPREME HEADQUARTERS ALLIED EXPEDITIONARY FORCE, Sunday, Aug. 13.—(AP)—The Allies, with official mystery cloaking the American swing around the left flank of the half-encircled German Seventh army in northwestern France, pounded forward slowly at five points in the bulge between Mortain and Caen yesterday and American armor pushed toward southern France well below the Loire to the portentous accompaniment of bomb bursts on the Mediterranean coast.

One German salient six miles wide and four miles deep was rubbed out by coordinated British-Canadian drives below Caen.

The Germans, reversing their previous withdrawal tactics, hurled all available reinforcements into the Normandy bulge which American, British and Canadian troops were battering from three sides.

The vast regions of France below the broad Loire river already had been penetrated by American ground forces which stabbed more than 10 miles southward after liberating Nantes.

But lack of news concerning that front and on activity beyond Le Mans on the Paris road—a place which the Americans had passed four days previously—reached the proportions of a complete blackout. Dispatches from the front were heavily censored, and at the late night headquarters press conference there was no word of developments.

The speed, extent and objectives of the American drives so befuddled the Germans that the Allies rigidly continued the four-day clamp-down on word of progress, announcing, "the situation must remain obscure purely for security reasons."

It asked public patience "because on secrecy depends the success of the Allied plan and the lives of American, British, Canadian and other Allied soldiers."

On the remainder of the active front, the British driving four miles east of Thury-Harcourt, reached Fresney-le-Vieux and linked up with Canadians who pushed down from Bretteville-Sur-Laize. This gave the British control of the Caen-Thury highway.

The Canadians took the road junction town of Barbery and advanced a mile and a half southward to Bois Halbout.

These drives eliminated the German salient between the Laize and Orne river. Whether any sizeable German forces were trapped in the area was not disclosed.

East of Bretteville, across the Caen-Falaise road, the Canadians advanced a little over a half-mile in the St. Sylvain area against fierce opposition.

Southwest of Thury, the British captured St. Pierre la Vieille and pressed on southward within three miles north of Conde-Sur-Noireau, an

[RO]AD TAX VOTE [IS] SLATED TUESDAY

PROPERTY BILL GIVEN GO-AHEAD

House Allots Three Days For Debate On Disposal Legislation

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The House leadership gave the go-ahead signal today to surplus property disposal legislation, sidetracking temporarily the George unemployment-demobilization bill passed yesterday by the Senate.

Three days of debate, starting Tuesday, were allotted tentatively to the surplus property measure which was approved today by the house expenditures committee, the final decision to be made Monday by the rules committee.

Chairman Doughton, Democrat, North Carolina, called a meeting of the ways and means committee for Tuesday to determine the line of action on the George measure, which the Senate passed by a 55 to 19 vote after rejecting the revised Kilgore bill calling for unemployment benefits up to $25 weekly.

The committee will decide whether to divorce from the bill a provision establishing an Office of War Mobilization and Reconversion headed by a presidentially-appointed director at $15,000 a year.

FORBIDDEN BOOK LIST NUMBERS 15

Army Admits Two Reported Banned Not Yet Considered

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The army, admitting tonight that two motion pictures it had said were banned from distribution to troops were never even considered, disclosed at the same time that its list of forbidden books has grown to 15, including Raymond Clapper's "Watching the World."

Three days ago, the War Department bureau of public relations informed reporters that the movies "Wilson," based on the career of President Woodrow Wilson, and "Heavenly Days," which takes the radio stars Fibber McGee and Molly to Washington, had officially run afoul of the soldier vote law's prohibition against army-sponsored distribution of political propaganda.

Tonight, after high ranking officers had spent most of the day conferring on a report of what actually had occurred: A cautiously-worded statement was issued that "information which reached the press * * * was in error."

"Upon investigation by the bureau of public relations," said the announcement, "it is found that only informal discussions of the pictures have taken place. No occasion has yet arisen for the War Department to determine whether these particular pictures are available or eligible for showing to troops."

25,000 WAIL AS GRAVES OPENED

Atrocities Of Germans Disclosed As Ground Yields Bodies

MOSCOW, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The wailing of 25,000 mourners swelled over Lublin as the Polish committee of national liberation carried out a huge mass for the victims who died in the Nazi extermination camp here, Soviet dispatches from that city said today.

Assembled in the great square before the Lublin castle, the mourners, led by Father Krusinski, sang the traditional "Saint Virgin" song of the Poles, these reports said, adding:

Polish troops stood with uncovered heads. Women and girls, overcome with emotion, flung themselves on the ground. Prayers for the dead continued for hours in the hot sun.

German captives dug up many bodies of the victims as hostile Poles watched.

There were screams of "murderers!" and "Degenerates!" from the group as prisoners lifted the corpse of a child from an opened ditch.

The committee of liberation unveiled a tablet on a wall of Lublin Castle and Masons sealed an urn with ashes of the Nazi victims into the wall.

The memorial tablet carried this inscription:

"To the millions of the victims killed by the German criminals at Maidanek (the suburban village where the extermination camp was located) and in the castle, August 6th. The Polish people."

Huge crowds flocked to the extermination camp, looking with frightened and angry faces at scenes of half-burned bodies and piles of ashes of hundreds of others.

"The people don't cry," said a Prav-

700,000 TONS OF BOMBS REQUIRED

Need For Rest Of Year Exceeds Total Already Used By U. S.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—United States army bombers will need more than 700,000 tons of high explosives during the rest of this year, beside the 472,054 tons dropped on German and Japanese targets since last January 1.

Announcing this today, the war department said the army air forces dropped twice as many bombs during the first half of this year as in the entire period from Dec. 7, 1941, day of the Japanese Pearl Harbor attack to Dec. 31, 1943. From the time this country entered the war until last July 1, the high explosive bomb tonnage totaled 677,012.

In the European theater alone, there was a 500 per cent increase in the bomb tonnage between January and June this year. A total of 405,212 tons going down on continental targets in that time. Of that total, the Eighth and Ninth air forces operating out of England and from Normandy fields dropped 243,402 tons, with the Mediterranean-based forces accounting for the balance. TRUCKERS READY FOR OPERATIONS

Unions And Operators Giving Government Complete Cooperation

(By Associated Press)

Army officers were removed from strategic truck terminals yesterday in eight midwestern states as the office of defense transportation, under executive order, took over the task of returning 25,000 striking truckers to work.

Maj. Alex Baxter, chief of the highway branch, army transport command, told of the removal of the officers as Ellis T. Longenecker, ODT, highway transportation official directing government operation of the truck lines, announced a meeting of operators today in Minneapolis to learn new federal regulations.

MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—With both unions and truck operators giving complete cooperation, the government tonight moved rapidly toward resumption of complete over-the-road freight service on 103 Midwestern lines by Monday.

Ellis T. Longenecker, federal manager of the lines under government control, said he had received word that trucks were ready to roll at Sioux Falls, S. D., Omaha, Neb., and Sioux City, Iowa, with operators and unions having agreed to acceptance of federal rules.

He reported that 50 per cent of Chicago truckers were set to start hauling with the remainder held up only because the situation had not yet cleared up in the Twin Cities' area, whence their loads were destined.

"There is no middle road in this situation," Longenecker said. "Either the operators haul the freight or the ODT will, even to the extent of furnishing the necessary personnel. With the present evinced spirit of cooperation of both unions and operators we do not anticipate having to take over any firm physically and we hope to have congested Midwest terminals cleared within a few days after things really get rolling Monday."

His prediction came as he scheduled week-end meetings with both groups at which he and a corps of government transport experts will explain the federal directive. Under present plans, the companies will be operated by their owners, Longenecker said, and

22 WOUNDED MEN REACH BARKSDALE

SHREVEPORT, La., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Sgt. Andrew B. Hearn, Jennings, La., was among 22 wounded veterans of the Normandy campaign to arrive by amublance plane at Barksdale Field today on their way to various Texas hospitals.

Sergeant Hearn, whose parents live in Rodessa, La., was a member of the 90th infantry division and hit his French beachhead on D-day plus one. He was wounded a week later by mortar fire and evacuated to England. Sergeant Hearn will be sent to Brooke General Hospital at Fort Sam Houston, Texas.

The ambulance plane, carrying seven litter cases and 15 walking wounded, will remain overnight at the local field. All the men, from various branches of the service, had been wounded in the Normandy campaign.

GOEBBELS DEMANDS MORE FARM OUTPUT

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Goading groggy Germans into a last-ditch "total war," Mobilization Chief Paul Joseph Goebbels told representative farmers gathered in Berlin today that they must somehow produce more food to offset new shortages which he said were due to the fact that "we have lost vast territories in the east."

His speech as reported by the official German news agency DNB praised the farmers for helping to avoid a recurrence to date of "the conditions of 1917-18," but he added that "now new difficulties confront us. * * * This means we have to make good this loss at home."

Goebbels is now making a virtue out of necessity in some of his drastic decrees.

An example is the growing difficulty of publishing German newspapers in bomb-shattered cities. It has been noticed in neutral countries that a number of metropolitan dailies have been appearing only twice or three times weekly.

But Goebbels' decree limiting newspapers and sharply reducing other publications is camouflaged as a voluntary decision.

Similarly, the sharpest reduction in railway freight and passenger traffic already has been enforced by Allied bombers blasting at communication lines, although Goebbels is trying to make the Germans believe curtailment is to provide a margin of reserve facilities.

Even his decree curtailing public meetings is superfluous since city transportation systems are so badly smashed that some of the most important "loyalty rallies" had to be held in convenient air raid shelters.

DESTROYER ESCORT SUNK BY TORPEDO

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The destroyer escort Fiske was sunk by an enemy torpedo recently in the Atlantic, the navy announced today.

The brief announcement gave no indications of where the Fiske was hit by the torpedo launched from a German U-boat.

Next of kin of all casualties aboard the vessel, which was under command of Lt. John A. Comly, 27, of Marion Park, Pa., have been notified, the navy said. Comly is listed as a survivor.

The 300-foot Fiske is one of the hundreds of new destroyer escorts being turned out with production-line speed for operation in both the Atlantic and Pacific.

Small but deadly, the destroyer escorts are used principally for convoy operations against submarines, but little information has been disclosed about this type of ship.

The navy gave no indication of the number of casualties among the approximately 150 men aboard the Fiske.

The Fiske was built by the Consolidated Steel Corporation at Orange, Texas, and was commissioned August 25, 1943.

[U]. S. BATTALION CUT OFF 5 DAYS IN FRANCE RESCUED

By William Smith White

[W]ITH AN AMERICAN INFANTRY [B]ATTALION NEAR MORTAIN, [Fr]ance, Aug. 12.—(AP)—This battalion [wa]s rescued this afternoon after be[in]g cut off by the Germans for five [an]d one-half days on an ear-shaped [hil]l just east of Mortain.

The Germans repeatedly had de[m]anded that the battalion surrender, [bu]t at the blackest hour, on Wednes[da]y night, the captain in command [se]nt this message back to the crack [S]S. troops surrounding his force:

"I will surrender when every one [of] our bullets has been fired and [ev]ery one of our bayonets is sticking [in] a German belly."

The captain was R. A. Kerley. He [to]ld about it tonight after a relief [a]ssignment had cut its way to the [ba]ttalion's isolated position.

The captain stood gaunt and black-[be]arded against the wall of an old [st]able that now is the battalion com[m]and post and related his reply as [ca]lmly as if he were repeating some [ca]sual street corner conversation from [hi]s home town of Houston, Texas.

An officer standing nearby said, "You had a hell of a nerve to tell them that."

"They had a hell of a nerve to put a proposition like that up to me," replied Kerley with a grin.

He and the survivors of the lost battalion came down the hill this afternoon after being relieved by the counterattack of two other infantry battalions, one of them commanded by the colonel of this regiment, who since Monday morning had sweated in silent agony to free his trapped men.

Now they are free and are holding another hill which is quiet, and they can rest.

In the successful relieving assault, the colonel went up the hill in his jeep.

"The German doesn't make me walk often, but I had to hit the dirt from that jeep three times going up because of his fire," the colonel said.

Acting commander of the battalion was Capt. Reynolds C. Erickson, a Miles, Iowa, farmer until the war, but it was Kerley to whom the Ger-

F. D. R. BACK IN U. S. AFTER EXTENDED TOUR OF PACIFIC

By Howard Flieger

BREMERTON, Wash., Aug. 12.—(AP)—President Roosevelt came home from a 15-day inspection of the Pacific war zone tonight to declare the United Nation must prepare permanent defenses against any future aggressions by the Japanese.

"The word and the honor of Japan cannot be trusted," he declared.

The president came into dock at this huge navy yard about 4 p. m. (Pacific war time), ending a war tour that began when he left the marine base at San Diego, Calif. on July 21—a day after his fourth-term nomination by the Democrats.

During his absence he visited Pearl Harbor, where he conferred with the war chiefs of the Pacific, and inspected military bases in the Aleutians.

He brought a laugh when he said he played hookey near Juneau, Alaska, long enough to sneak in three hours of fishing. The result: one halibut and one flounder.

Permanent Pacific defenses must be obtained, Mr. Roosevelt said, to protect this hemisphere from Alaska to Chile. It is important, he added, that we have permanent bases nearer to Japan.

"We have no desire to ask for any possessions of the United Nations," he said, "But the United Nations who are working so well with us in the winning of the war will, I am confident, be glad to join with us in protection against aggression and in machinery to prevent aggression.

"With them and with their help, I am sure that we can agree completely so that Central and South America will be as safe against attack from the south Pacific as North America is going to be from the north Pacific itself."

As for Japan, the president said:

"It is an unfortunate fact that years of proof must pass before we can trust Japan and before we can classify Japan as a member of the society of nations which seek permanent peace and whose word we can take."

The president said that during his absence—he left Washington July 13—he kept in close touch with develop-

...thing definite. Apparently it's ... to depend on the boss' good ...re. WMC can't force the boss to ...ect Jones' rights.

...t WMC is going to urge such an ...oyer, when he lays off Jones, to ... him leave without pay or a fur...h. In that way Jones' rights in ...old job would be taken care of. ... could return there when the need for him elsewhere ends.

...MC repeatedly has said it expects ...rce comparatively few layoffs. It ...s to do most of the shifting of workers from unessential jobs by normal and voluntary methods.

This will require cooperation by workers and bosses.

For instance:

Under the new powers given it by War Mobilizer Byrnes, WMC will place ceilings on the number of persons who can be employed in critical labor areas.

Now here's Mr. Heffilfinger, who has a war factory employing 1,200 men. WMC decides his plant isn't as essential to the war as another plant in the same town. WMC wants to get all the workers it can for that other plant.

So WMC tells Heffilfinger his ceiling is 1,000 workers, that he is not to hire any new workers until his total employment is down to 1,000.

Heffilfinger cooperates. (If he doesn't cooperate, the government could crack down on him in a number of ways, even to shutting off his fuel.)

Normal labor turnover takes care of the 200 workers who are the difference between 1,200 and the 1,000. As they leave, no new workers are hired to replace them. But after his total is down to 1,000, Heffilfinger will be allowed to hire workers to keep them at the 1,000 level.

But suppose he decides that actually he could get along with only 800 employes. All right. Then he doesn't hire any new workers until his staff has dwindled to 800.

All this is a different thing from the WMC's telling Heffilfinger to lay off a certain number of employes because WMC wants to place them elsewhere.

But suppose WMC puts his ceiling at 1,000 and Heffilfinger decides he needs only 800 and tells WMC to take those other 200 right away.

Would Heffilfinger be expected to give job protection to those 200? Hardly. He has decided he needs only 800 workers. If he gave job protection to those other 200 he's find himself back with 1,000 sometime and that wouldn't be good management practice.

REINSTATEMENT OF SMITH IS ORDERED

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Members of the state civil service commission announced today that a decision has been rendered by them ordering the reinstatement of Claude C. Smith in the position he formerly held as building maintenance superintendent at State Colony and Training School, Pineville, La. He is to be reinstated with pay for time lost since he was discharged on July 12, by Dr. W. E. Wilkinson, superintendent of the state colony, the commission said.

Smith, a civil service employe, appealed to the commission for a hearing when he was removed and the commission considered his case in Alexandria, Thursday. The employe was charged with insubordination, inefficiency and neglect of duty which he denied, and the testimony considered by the commission related to this issue.

The commission heard the testimony of 27 witnesses, including Drs. W. L. Boggs and J. L. Knoll, former superintendents of the state colony. The hearing lasted the entire day and it was necessary for the commission to hold a night session in order to hear all of the witnesses who had been summoned.

In announcing its decision, the commission stated that a formal written opinion, containing detailed reasons in support of its findings, would be filed at a later date.

Members of the commission are: Charles E. Dunbar, chairman, G. F. Thomas, Paul M. Brown, and Gen. Allison Owen.

LOUIS ARMSTRONG TO PLAY HERE ON AUG. 24

Louis Armstrong "Trumpet King of Swing" who brings his orchestra to the Karel gymnasium on Thursday, August 24, personally promises that his band won't blow the customers over. Unlike other colored bands, and although the Armstrong band plays the proper proportion of swing, it plays that swing with beauty instead of blare, and it features more sweet music than the average band, white or colored.

Not only that, but Armstrong's is one of the few top-notch big modern bands which makes a feature of comedy, and not the least of that comedy, of course, is Louis Armstrong himself, featured as trumpeter, orchestra leader and comedian in no less than two musical comedies and nine motion pictures, an all-time record for band leaders.

PREPARE NOW TO MAIL GIFTS OVERSEAS, SAYS POSTMASTER

Rules For Mailing Christmas Packages To Armed Forces Outlined

"Save strong string and box material and start to plan shopping," Postmaster General Frank C. Walker advises Americans in announcing the dules for mailing of Christmas gifts for army and navy personnel overseas.

This year the Christmas mailing period for both army and navy overseas forces is the same—September 15 to October 15. After October 15 no gift parcel may be mailed to a soldier without the presentation of a written request from him.

The great demands upon shipping and the need for giving preference to arms, munitions, medicine and food is the prime reason for the early mailing date. Moreover, gift parcels must travel great distances to reach army and navy personnel who are located at remote points, and frequently the transfer of large numbers to new stations necessitates forwarding of the packages and additional time is required.

"The response that our people made last year during the overseas mailing period demonstrated that they will cooperate in any measure designed for the welfare of our armed forces personnel," Mr. Walker said. "It is not easy to concentrate on Christmas gifts in the midst of warm weather here at home but our people recognized the need, and because they want the men and women who are absent from their homes to know that they are not forgotten at Christmas they took pains to assure prompt delivery of Christmas gifts.

"I know that our people will observe the overseas mailing schedule once more this year but I do wish to stress this fact: More care must be taken in wrapping and packing parcels securely and addressing them clearly and correctly.

"It is not a pleasant thing to visit a postal concentration center and see the numbers of Christmas parcels which will never reach service men and service women. Post office personnel have orders to do everything they can to effect delivery of such gifts, because we know how important they are for the happiness of the armed forces. Too frequently, nothing can be done.

"I am sorry that anyone ever mentioned that the size of a shoe box is the approximate limit for packages intended for gifts mailings overseas. Unhappily many people became convinced that a shoe box is the best possible container. We must be mindful that these gifts must travel far, with shipping space crowded. If the gifts are to be protected in transit they must be packed in boxes made of metal, wood, solid fiberboard, or strong double-faced corragated fiberboard, reinforced with strong gummed paper tape or tied with strong twine. If both tape and strong twine are used, so much the better. If the outer wrapper is crushed—and this is likely to happen—the loss of contents may be prevented if fiberboard boxes are wrapped in heavy paper.

"We were unable to deliver many parcels which families and friends sent to men and women overseas last year because they were crushed in transit and the gift and the outside wrapper became separated. We would have been able to make delivery if the address had been shown on the inside wrapper. We advise that everyone write the address of the sender and addressee inside the package as well as outside.

"Christmas gifts mean much to our people overseas. Because strong twine, heavy paper and boxes and fiberboard will prove of real help in making delivery of gifts possible I urge those at home to begin saving these materials now. As time goes on they are going to become even more scarce than they are now."

Among the more important rules for Christmas mailings to the armed forces overseas are the following:

The parcel must not exceed five pounds, and must not be more than 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined. It should be marked "Christmas parcel" so that it may be given special attention to assure its arrival before December 25.

Not more than one parcel may be mailed in any one week to the same member of the armed forces by or in behalf of the same mailer.

When combination packages are made up of such items as miscellaneous toilet articles, hard candies, soaps, etc., the contents should be tightly packed so that they will not become loosened in transit and damage the contents or the cover. Hard candies, nuts, caramels (including those covered with chocolates) cookies, fruit cake, and chocolate bars individually wrapped in waxed paper should be enclosed in inner boxes of wood, metal, or cardboard.

Perishable goods, such as fruits and vegetables that may spoil, are prohibited. Intoxicants, inflammable materials such as matches or lighter fluids, poisons, and anything that may damage other mail also are prohibited. Gifts enclosed in glass should be substantially packed to avoid breakage. Sharp instruments, such as razors and knives, must have their edges and points protected so that they cannot cut through the coverings and injure postal personnel or damage other packages.

Relatives and friends who know that the personnel in the armed services to whom they plan to send gifts are at far distant points should begin to mail their packages on the opening day—September 15—of the mailing period. Last year late mailings, causing concentration of great numbers of packages in the final days of the mailing period, threatened to defeat the program. It is stressed that success can be assured, with the limited personnel and facilities available, only if the public gives full cooperation through prompt mailings of the overseas gift parcels from the opening of the mailing period.

FARM SERVICE DIVISION ANNOUNCED BY CONCERN

Inauguration of a farm service department, for the purpose of efficiently serving the agricultural trade in the Monroe area, has been announced by D. M. Carroll, local distributor for the Arkansas Fuel Oil Company, marketers of Cities Service petroleum products in the Southern states.

Ceicel D. Brown has been named manager of the far service department, D. W. Harris, vice-president and general manager of the company, Shreveport, La., announced.

The farm service department is being instituted throughout the 12-state territory served by the Arkansas Fuel Oil Company as part of an expanded petroleum marketing program. The department will be highly personalized, the main objective being to properly service agricultural consumers in the Southern states.

Department headquarters will be maintained in Shreveport, but will be carried to the field by more than 400 retail and wholesale distributors located throughout the territory.

Mr. Carroll pointed out that the department will give specialized service and engineering assistance to farm accounts. He further said that a long-range farm assistance program had been outlined by the department as a means of benefiting the now highly mechanized business of agriculture.

The number of pound-miles of air express carried in the United States increased from 2,822,000,000 in 1936 to 8,300,000,000 in 1941.

Issues And Personalities

Intimate acquaintance with celebrities is a precarious pleasure which most people escape. They are fortunate that they do—that is, if they are interested in a fair appraisal of the celebrities' abilities, rather than in their autographs. For to know a famous person—crooner, baseball star or statesman—is usually to suffer a warped judgment. The impression of his personality, positive or negative, tends to outweigh his attainments.

So perhaps Col. Edmund W. Starling, who died last week, was not the ideal man to assign places in history to the five presidents of the United States whom he guarded for 30 years. But his opinion of them is nevertheless valuable. For he had the gift, so rare among celebrity-knowers, of being able to divorce fame and achievement from personality. Thus he knew and judged the presidents as men.

And what did this tall, quiet, steel-eyed, soft-spoken Kentucky colonel think of the White House residents he served? "I never knew a president," he once said, "who wasn't subject to human error, like any other man. But neither did I ever know one who was not a gentleman."

The presidents he knew so well and guarded so well were Woodrow Wilson, Warren G. Harding, Calvin Coolidge, Herbert Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt. Perhaps five more dissimilar men never occupied the executive mansion. Colonel Starling knew them in sickness and health, good temper and bad, hours of indecisions and discouragement and triumph. He liked them all and they liked him.

It is quite certain that he would have enjoyed the same friendship with Charles Evans Hughes, James M. Cox, John W. Davis, Al Smith, Alf Landon and Wendell Willkie if the voters had given them four-year leases on the White House.

And what has all this got to do with the millions of Americans who never even shook the hand of a senator, let alone a president? Only this: a lot of these Americans in this hot summer have been making themselves even hotter with highly personalized arguments about presidential candidates. And since they don't know either candidate, they don't know what they're talking about.

There are some clear-cut issues in this campaign. But these voters are losing friends and failing to influence people by skipping the issues in favor of vituperative remarks about personalities, voices, mustaches, blue serge suits, wives, dogs, and what have you.

Neither candidate is an ogre. Neither is hatching a fiendish plot to throw the country to the dogs, the Indians, Adolf Hitler or Josef Stalin. The presidents Colonel Starling knew were fallible, but gentlemen. They probably always will be, doing the best they can according to their beliefs and abilities.

GOOD AT FIGURES

That electrical calculating machine capable of solving mathematical problems ranging from simple addition to dynamic equations of the solar system is truly one of the marvels of this exciting age. A duplicate ought to be built after the war and buried in a time capsule so that posterity in some far distant future would be forced to acknowledge that the people of the twentieth century did something besides fighting. It costs only $250,000 to build one of the machines, a small sum in this billion-dollar era.

The benefits of the machine are expected to be enormous, particularly in the fields of atomic physics, radio research, investigations of the ionosphere, optics and electronics. Credit for presenting the basic idea of the machine, which is 51 feet long and eight feet high, is given to Com. Howard Aiken, U. S. N. R., who is on leave as an associate professor of applied mathematics at the Harvard Graduate School of Engineering.

While the ingenious calculator cannot work out the problem of multiplying two by two any faster than an alert individual can do it in his head, the machine can arrive speedily at calculations in the field of higher mathematics which otherwise would require years to work out. Thus, the machine will explore vast fields, in pure mathematics and other sciences, previously untouched because of excessively intricate and time-consuming calculations, producing the answers automatically, rapidly and accurately to innumerable problems which have defied solution.

Commander Aiken says the machine already has exposed 11 mistakes in one mathematical formula which has been standard for certain calculations for years and which originally required 11 years to work out. This formula, he said, will be worked out correctly and completely after the war, and the machine will be able to do it in four days.

One use for the machine which has not been mentioned might be suggested. The calculator could prove useful in computing the number of inhabited places which the Russians have taken during the German retreat. When the war is over historians will be interested in such statistics and the mechanical Quiz Kid should prove a great time-saver in recording activities on the Russian front.

SCHOOL FOR PARENTS

We have heard too many diagnoses of the cause of juvenile delinquency, and too few cures. Most authorities, self-styled and otherwise, agree that the fault lies with the parents. But the city of San Francisco is doing something about it.

Parents of delinquents, or those charged with neglect and bad family behavior, are "sentenced" by a juvenile court to eight lectures on how to rear children. Perfect attendance may bring them a suspended sentence, other things being equal. But the case is not disposed of till school is finished.

Sounds like a good idea.

The first automobile "bus" with double deck was imported from France and introduced in New York in 1906.

The gasoline consumed in training one American pilot would last the average driver 25 years.

Jimmie Fidler IN HOLLYWOOD

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 12.—At this writing, every possible effort is being made to hush up the disgraceful brawl that took place a few nights ago in Bandleader Tommy Dorsey's apartment.

Jon Hall, despite knife wounds that came within an ace of killing him and may well cost him his screen career, has declined to file charges against his assailant. Eddie Norris, who by his own account, was knocked down and kicked into unconsciousness, has refused to prosecute. Allan Smiley (sidekick of the notorious "Bugsy" Siegel), who has been identified as one of the principals, "isn't talking." Neither is Dorsey, and neither are the guests who sidelined the affair. The several interested studios are trying to whitewash the proceedings.

Why?

When a man is subjected to a murderous assault and nearly killed, public interest demands a thorough investigation and the punishment of the attacker. Certainly the welfare of Hollywood demands something more than a silly attempt to cover up a scandal. The men involved in this melee are world famous. The affair has attracted national attention.

It is reported that Hall and Norris have been warned to "keep their mouths shut." If such warnings are back of their docile attitude and if they and the rest of Hollywood continue to bow to the threats, the motion picture industry is delivering itself, lock, stock and barrel, to the wrong kind of taskmasters.

Speaking of Hollywood scandals, I'd like a word about the case of Jackie Cooper, who faces a charge, filed in Indiana, of contributing to the delinquency of a 15-year-old girl. If he's guilty—a matter for the court to decide—he should be punished. But there are two other criminals in this case and in every case like it. I mean John and Jane Public, who are too busy with their own affairs to devote proper attention to the problem of youth delinquency. Isn't it about time for all of us to see to it that 15-year-old girls are kept out of bars and in the right environment? Instead of bewailing another scandal, Hollywood would be wiser to consider how it can use the tremendous medium in its control to remedy such conditions.

In "Double Indemnity" (the best crime picture of recent years) Fred MacMurray and Barbara Stanwyck play cold-blooded murderers—characters as despicable as any you'll ever see. But both are sure to gain new popularity in the process—just as Bette Davis became a star by enacting hateful neurotics and Humphrey Bogart grew into a screen idol by flourishing a machine gun. I left the preview of "Double Indemnity" chuckling, for, as a Hollywood old-timer, I well remember the days when stars walked out on their contracts rather than "ruin their careers" by playing unsympathetic roles.

The next time some synic observes that it's impossible for a marriage between show people to succeed, I'm going to escort him to the set where "Tomorrow the World" is filming. The leading man, Fredric March, has been happily wed to Florence Eldridge for years, despite the fact that they often co-starred. Leading lady Betty Field's husband is the famous playright, Elmer Rice—yet they seem to be singularly happy. Leslie Fenton, the director, has lived in bliss for ten years or so with his actress wife, Ann Dvorak. And Producer Lester Cowan has made a "go of it" though his wife, Ann Ronell, is a noted composer.

I was surprised by the naive statement made by Moe Kaufmann, a studio employee who was shot in the thigh the other day by a passing motorist as he (Kaufmann) lolled on Hollywood Boulevard. "I can't understand it," he said. "So far as I know I have no enemies in the world." Kaufmann, deluded chap, is a film cutter. Can it be that he has forgotten the faces on his cutting room floor?

Shooting, fights and arrests! Offhand, you'd think Hollywood was afflicted with enough troubles without columnists adding fuel to the flame. But I've just read a New York pillar which reports that the much-publicized romance between Lois Collier and Helmut Dantine is "undoubtedly a publicity frame-up, since their personal press agent room together." Tsk! Tsk! Before that columnist carries the matter any further, I must set him straight. Dantine's press agent happens to be a lady. Miss Collier's publicity is handled by a man. And they are married but not to each other!

BY HENRY McLEMORE

By Mrs. Henry McLemore

Henry, dearest,

I have really "sweated out" these last two weeks with no word from you. "Perspired out" would probably be a more ladylike way of putting it.

Where are you? What are you doing? Are you all right? Blessed, blessed day when I hear from you again!

I must tell you about our new neighbor on the north. Her name is Miss Florence Brentano. Some kid was writing school notes for the paper and he decided to write about all the well known people we had in town. He asked Liz to help him and she suggested for one, Miss Florence Brentano, and added, "of the book store Brentanos, you know." He said that sure he knew. Well, he had the idea of books in his mind all right. This is what appeared in the paper. "We have as a noted visitor here, Miss Florence Britannica of the Encyclopaedia Britannicas."

When I look out at the beach and see Miss Brentano in the ocean I always think to myself—well, there's Miss Britannica ruling the waves, again.

Cindy and I were over at Aunt Mame's this morning and I heard Bernice out on the back porch calling to Cindy to come into the kitchen. Cindy was obeying, but very reluctantly, and Bernice was laughing as I stepped out on the porch. "Miss Jean, jes' watch how Cindy come to you when half her mind is holtin' out against it. She sure walk slaunchwise and shaggy-like."

Honey boy, we gals are going to have a cocktail party tomorrow not because we want to give a party but because we've finally realized that if we don't pay back our indebtedness pretty soon we just naturally ain't goin' to get asked no place, no mo'. Even now former friends speak rather coolly and sort of have that look in their eyes which says—"Isn't it about YOUR turn now, sister?"

If any of us happened to be indebted to you and you came to our party, you'd run out screaming before you'd stayed five minutes. It's going to be just the kind of party that you'd really HATE. We're going to have wholesome hors d'oeuvres, deviled eggs, stuffed celery, sliced carrots, etc. Maybe we'll even throw in a few vitamin "B" tablets just for good health to all.

As for the drinks, which we finally decided ought to be served at a cocktail party, we thought first of buying a case of Johnny Walker Black Label, the best imported gin and very old Bourbon and rye. Then, as one woman, we decided to buy ONE bottle of that grand old mariner's drink—rum—and mix it with endless fruit juices. We are going to have the delightful juice of the orange, the grapefruit, the lemon, the lime, the grape, mixed in a large punch bowl with plenty of ice so that it will get diluted and go further.

We don't expect anyone to have any fun at our party but we're paying back our indebtedness, aren't we? Never think, my darling, that your money is being squandered while you are gone.

Twenty people and, yo-ho-ho-ONE bottle of rum.

Hoping to hear from you at your earliest convenience,

All my love, monkey,
JEAN.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Sunday School Lesson for August 20
Text: I Samuel 3:19-21; 7:3-12
By William E. Gilroy, D. D.

The story of Samuel, prophet and judge in Israel, leader of his people, is so rich a human document that one is tempted to forget about the prophet and center attention on the man. Perhaps we can devote a little interest to the man behind the prophet.

His duty and destiny were marked from the beginning. Not all boys consecrated to good tasks by their mothers fulfill their mothers' high purpose, but Samuel confirmed his mother's pledging of him to religious service; he grew up willingly in the service of Eli, the high priest in the temple, and as he served, imbibed training and discipline to qualify to become Eli's successor. He stands in contrast to Eli's reprobate sons, a sincere and devoted priest, a lover of Israel, thoroughly consecrated to the protection and welfare of his people.

In our more peaceful days we would have called Samuel's time an environment barbarous and full of brutality and ruthlessness. It is with sad reflection that we speak of them now as times like our own, and the later life and the grim realism with which Samuel faced war-time ruthlessness are in striking contrast with the picture of the gentle child growing up in the temple.

Extermination of enemies then was on a lesser scale than the mass murders prepetrated today. In all the tragic history of the Jews, never has there been such slaughter as in our own time which has seen the doom of millions. Agag, the ancient foe of Israel was the Hitler of that time, and it is against the background of his atrocious acts that one must picture that bloody scene when Samuel with his own hand, "hewed Agag in pieces before the Lord" (I Samuel 15:33). It is a stern narrative for our time. Agag tried to cover the atrocities with smooth words, but Samuel was relentless. "As the sword hath made women childless, so shall thy mother be childless among women."

From such scenes it is pleasant to turn to an episode of romantic love, and there is one character in the story of Samuel who deserves a little more attention than he usually gets. It is Elkanah, the father of Samuel, and in what we are told of him we see that Samuel was the child of a deep and noble love.

According to the custom of the time, Elkanah had more than one wife. The childless Hannah, whom he loved deeply, was the object of reproach and ridicule by the other wife, Peninnah, by whom he had sons and daughters. When she wept in grief and would not eat because of her rival's taunts, Elkanah tried to comfort her with loving words, "Am I not better to thee than 10 sons?"

There was gentleness and tenderness even in that rough age, and it is good to remember how much of gentleness and tenderness there is today, though the clouds of tragedy and suffering and cruelty hang heavily over the whole world.

I think it was a Frenchman who, in the darkest days of World War I, remarked that the war would not prevent the coming of the spring.

CAPTAIN JACK PARKER IS REPORTED PRISONER

Mrs. Jack Parker received a letter Saturday from her husband, Capt. Jack M. Parker, of the United States infantry, who is a Japanese prisoner of war. The letter was sent from headquarters Camp Omori, Tokyo, and was dated October 15, 1943. The letter stated Captain Parker was well and it implied he expected to be home in the spring of 1944. Mrs. Parker had last heard from him in December, 1943. He was taken prisoner when Corregidor fell.

Captain Parker was born and raised in Monroe and is the son of Mrs. W. M. Parker, Monroe. His wife lives with their five daughters at 1001 South Grand avenue, Monroe.

The teaching profession in the United States is already badly disorganized, especially on the elementary and secondary levels, by the fact that salaries are so low that at a time like this teachers are driven by the thousand to seek employment in other occupations.

In our colleges and universities where salaries have so far as I know seen no general increase since we went into the war, men and women faculty members are finding it more and more difficult to keep up fixed obligations such as insurance, payments on homes, provision for the education of their children, and to meet their monthly bills at the same time.

Here is a profession, in other words, which from top to bottom is appalled by the thought of inflation. It has seen in its own ranks none of the increased purchasing power of the country as a whole. It is trying to do its part particularly to meet the increased demands for war bond purchases, charities and the rest.

But it is hard beset and for this profession the effects of material inflation would be tragic.

All wars in Europe are fought for loot. Mostly this loot is territory, but it also includes everything else, from the objects of art which now decorate the houses of the German leaders to the booty which weighs down the retreating German soldier.

To the American woman this is theft. She has no sympathy with the women who are the receivers of these stolen goods. She is accustomed to pay for what she gets, and war to her means sacrifice, not gain.

She hopes to get her man back safely. She wants an early end to the war, and if she errs it is on the side of over-generosity to former enemies.

Thus she is not conditioned to theft. In case she followed a conquering army she would frown on pillage. But she would buy with good money what she needed. She likes a bargain. She was not above such bargaining during the German and French inflations. But she will not steal or have others steal for her.

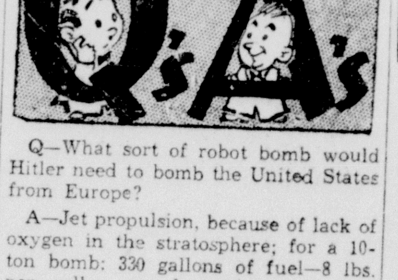
It's still a free country. You can go to Lake Wannagoway for your late summer vacation as usual—or you can stay at home. You don't have to keep on sleeping in the clean, comfortable bed that you're accustomed to. As an American citizen, you have every right to spend your nights on a rusty folding cot with a mildewed mattress and sandy sheets. There is no law compelling you to order your food by telephone from the corner delicatessen—you can walk it home yourself from the village store five miles away.

If, instead of turning on a faucet in the kitchen, you elect to lug all your water in buckets from a distant, dubious well and heat it on a kerosene stove—that is your privilege. If you prefer open plumbing openly arrived at, no one is going to force you to use that neat white bathroom just across the hall. And if the carry-and-cache method of garbage disposal appeals to you, then by all means take your garbage into the deep-tangled wildwood and bury it.

Yes, it's still a free country, and you can go to Lake Wannagoway for your vaction as usual—assuming that you are prepared to spend the best part of it standing in line at ticket windows and train gates, wrestling your own baggage, fighting for elbow room in day coaches, waiting among the milk cans at Squeedunk Junction for train connections that don't connect.

But personally, I think I'll sit this one out. And I don't mean on a suitcase in the aisle.



Q—What sort of robot bomb would Hitler need to bomb the United States from Europe?

A—Jet propulsion, because of lack of oxygen in the stratosphere; for a 10-ton bomb: 330 gallons of fuel—8 lbs. per gallon—per hour for a 17-hour flight; an over-all weight of 34 tons, heavier than a loaded B-17.

Q—How many ships does the United States navy have?

A—Some 14,000, more than double all other navies together.

Q—What does a pilot do when he feathers the propeller?

A—He varies the pitch of the blades, adjustable during flight.

Q—What is the firepower of a chemical battalion?

A—With 48 "goon guns" (4.2 in. chemical mortars), it can fire three tons of phosgene a minute.

Q—Which of our armed services first came into actual contact with the Germans in this war?

A—Coast guard; seized Nazi radio installations on Greenland.

BIBLE THOUGHTS

Whereas ye know not what shall be on the morrow. For what is your life? It is even a vapour, that appeareth for a little time, and then vanisheth away.—James 4:14.

We are in this life as it were in another man's house. In heaven is our home, in the world is our Inn; do not so entertain thyself in the Inn of this world for a day as to have thy mind withdrawn from longing after thy heavenly home.—Gerhard.

CINNAMON MONOPOLY

In the Netherlands of the 18th century death was the penalty for selling or giving away as little as a single stick of cinnamon, or for wilfully injuring a cinnamon plant. The government had complete control of the plant and took every precaution to protect the monopoly and high price.

There are more than 100 geysers and 4,000 hot springs in Yellowstone National park.

'GHOST HECKLER' ON BERLIN RADIO

LONDON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A "ghost heckler" broke in during pauses in the Berlin overseas radio newscast today shouting comments on Allied advances.

At the first pause the voice came in with, "The Russians are advancing. The Americans are advancing. The British are advancing."

When the station announcer said a Russian unit was surrounded, the heckler interrupted: "It's not true. That's a lie."

At the conclusion the announcer said, "I hope you had good reception."

The voice countered with "Unite against Hitler."

WORLD SECURITY TALKS SCHEDULED

Closer Political Cooperation Among Big Four Predicted

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Closer political cooperation in the immediate future among Britain, Russia, the United States and China may result from the four-power world security talks to be held here late this month.

That is the opinion and to a degree the hope of some American officials who have been speculating on the organized conduct of world affairs in the period from Germany's collapse until the United Nations are formed into some sort of permanent organization devoted to the maintenance of peace and order.

It may be also an objective of the British and the Russians. Officials on both Britain and the Soviet Union have spoken of the need for full political harmony among the four powers and of the fact that responsibility for preserving peace must be related to the strength of the nations in a peace organization.

The British group assigned to the peace talks which will begin August 21 arrived today, Sir Alexander Cadogan, permanent undersecretary of state for foreign affairs, the chairman, arrived on the same plane with the British ambassador, the Earl of Halifax, who had been on a visit to England.

Cadogan and Halifax were met in New York by Undersecretary of State Edward R. Stettinius, the principal American delegate to the talks, and the party was received at the national airport here with military honors, something unusual in American diplomacy which ordinarily avoids military show. In this case it appeared symbolic in linking military force with the idea of preserving peace through international organization.

The Russian group, headed by Ambassador Andrea Gromyko, is due in next week.

The impression is strong in diplomatic quarters here that many months probably elapse between these first exploratory talks of the Big Four governments and the actual formation by the United Nations of a functioning world peace agency.

The question of what to do to preserve order in the meantime was partially answered at the meeting of foreign ministers in Moscow last fall when Britain, the United States, Russia and China pledged not to use their military forces after this war except for purposes of maintaining peace and after consultation among themselves.

SAYS TEXAS OIL MUST GO TO WAR

Will Be Thrown Into Conflict Even If Production Sacrificed

AUSTIN, Tex., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Texas will continue to throw her oil resources into the effort to win the war, even at some sacrifice of efficient production, Chairman Beauford Jester of the railroad commission said today in response to a plea for a new high in petroleum output.

"We are in war. Texas oil has gone to war. Texas oil will help to win the war, even if it means some slight sacrifice in efficient production," Jester said in comment on the production of 2,303,000 barrels of all petroleum liquids.

This included 2,163,000 barrels daily of crude oil. The demand for 484,000 barrels of sour crude from Texas remains unchanged, with all the 64,000-barrel increase sought in the sweet crude classification.

This increase will not be taken from the east Texas field. Jeter noted that he was pleased that the PAW had acceded to the commission's suggestion that it not "indicate the fields that should produce the requested amount of oil from Texas in September."

"Had the certification for September followed the wording of last month's and requested this 64,000 barrels of sweet crude increase 'tributary to the big inch pipeline at Longview' we would have had to ignore this suggestion or request," Jester's statement continued.

He said that the 35,000-barrel increase for August was absorbed by the east Texas field, indicating that it could absorb no more but would have to continue the present rate of production. His statement went on:

"Anticipating that September would see an all-time high request for Texas sweet crude to meet the increased tempo for the war and the on-rush of our country and our Allies in France and on the corridor of Italy and in the Pacific, on August 1 the commission plans to get this increase from the wells in the fields that can increase their production."

This matter will be gone into at the statewide proration hearing next Thursday.

13 CHICKENS ARE REPORTED STOLEN

The theft of 13 friers from his chicken coop was reported to Monroe police yesterday by B. D. Robinson, Negro, 3104 Pearl street, who said the chickens were taken from his yard some time Friday night.

Police Officers M. L. Peters and E. L. Walker, who investigated the case, reported the thief had entered the yard over a back fence, cut the screen wire on the coop and taken the chickens which were reported to have weighed about two pounds each.

DEATHS

CHARLES LEWIS AVENT

DELHI, La., Aug. 12.—(Special)—Charles Lewis Avent, 65, retired Illinois Central Railroad conductor, died at his home here this afternoon as the result of a stroke of paralysis suffered yesterday.

Mr. Avent, a native of Water Valley, Miss., where he was born June 20, 1879, had been an invalid for the past 11 years after serving 30 years with the Illinois Central. He came here from Water Valley only three years ago.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Florine Avent; three sisters, Mrs. W. S. Bosma and Mrs. E. E. McFaden, Memphis, Tenn., and Mrs. Eva Baines, Miami, Fla.; and two step daughters, Mrs. Wilber Farmer and Mrs. Maurice McKinney, Delhi.

Funeral arrangements, being handled by Cathron-Golden Funeral Home of Oak Grove, had not been completed tonight but services will be held some time Sunday at the residence. The Rev. Mr. Pritchard, pastor of the Presbyterian Church of Delhi of which Mr. Avent was a member, will probably have charge.

FIVE-ALARM FIRE HITS CONEY ISLAND

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A five-alarm fire broke out late today in Luna park at Coney Island, mecca for thousands of New Yorkers fleeing todays' intense heat.

An official of Steeplechase park, an amusement center near Luna, reported that two sides of Luna park were burning and that one of the central towers of the park, the "Dragon's Gorge" and the "Mile Skychaser" had collapsed.

Flames were shooting high in the air, he said, and were fanned by a northeast wind. A huge crowd gathered to watch.

Fire department headquarters said the fire was in the center of the Coney Island amusement establishment often pictured in newsreels.

Two disaster emergency units also were dispatched.

Police headquarters said that one person was injured.

More than 800,000 people had crowded into Coney Island today, one of the hottest days of the year.

DEWEY IS DRAFTING CAMPAIGN SPEECHES

PAWLING, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Gov. Thomas E. Dewey today began preliminary drafts of several campaign addresses amid indications he expects to start a speaking tour as Republican presidential nominee after Labor day.

Dewey, who came to his Quaker Hill farm last night for the fifth week-end since his nomination, gave up plans for two days' rest despite 90 degree heat.

He spent much of the day working on state business with his personal secretary, Miss Lilian Rosse, later turning to the preparation of talks which also will occupy him tomorrow.

Dates and places were not disclosed but Dewey said recently he had been asked to go to Philadelphia early in the campaign and that he would go into Massachusetts before November.

Dewey will make a swing to the west coast but whether he will make it soon or just before the election is not known. Michigan and Illinois leaders have asked him to deliver major speeches in their states.

In 1839 Vermont dentists would "attend ladies at their homes" if requested.

WILL GIVE DATE OF 'A' RENEWALS

New Application Forms Will Be In Hands Of Boards Soon

District OPA Director J. E. Brumfield announced today that application forms for renewal of basic "A" gasoline rations will be in the hands of War Price and Rationing Boards in Monroe sometime between August 15 and 25 and that announcement of dates and methods of distribution will be made in each community by chairmen of the boards.

"OPA points with pride to the simplicity of handling of renewals this time," Director Brumfield said. "There necessarily will be a heavy workload on boards, but cooperation on the part of the motoring public will help eliminate unnecessary hardship on members and clerks." He pointed to these rules which should be followed to speed the renewal job:

1. Applicants must attach the back cover of their present "A" book, properly endorsed on spaces provided for this purpose, to their application forms. (If applicants have lost their "A" book back covers, they must attach their state automobile license receipts to the application in lieu of the cover, which receipts will be returned to applicants by mail with their new books.)

2. Applicants should read carefully the instructions on the form and fill it out exactly as required.

3. Applicants should mail their applications to their local boards and not take them there in person because board workers will be extremely busy.

The district director said applicants would not be required this time to attach their tire inspection records to their applications.

New gas coupons in the book will become valid September 22.

All books will be in the hands of motorists before that time, the official reported.

IRATE WIFE LEADS RAID ON DICE GAME

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—A Fifth precinct police report credited "the irate wife of a shipyard worker" with leading a raid on a dice game here last night.

The report said the woman led police to the game after complaining that her husband had lost $100.

The husband, 12 other shipyard workers and one other man were arrested, the report said, and $701.85 confiscated.

All 14 were charged with violation of city and state laws covering games of chance.

NEGRO WOMAN IS SEVERELY STABBED

Rosetta Bluford, elderly Negro, was stabbed twice in the left side during an altercation in West Monroe last night, and Mamie Slator, 51, Negro, accused of stabbing the woman, was being held in the West Monroe jail last night on a charge of drawing and displaying a dangerous weapon.

Police Chief Jeff Caldwell said other charges might be filed against the Slator woman, pending the outcome of the condition of her victim who was rushed to St. Francis Sanitarium in a Mulhearn ambulance. The Bluford woman was said to have suffered considerable loss of blood.

The Slator woman, arrested by Police Officers Morris Barham and J. B. Hennen of the West Monroe department, was said to have been living in the same house with the stabbing victim who was reported cooking supper about 10 p. m. when the fracas occurred.

The Bluford woman said at the hospital that she didn't know how old she was but that she had a son about 50 years old.

ELMER DAVIS VISITS GUAM BATTLELINES

GUAM, Aug. 7.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Elmer Davis, chief of the Office of War Information, visited Guam's battlelines today and observers felt he was making a first-hand study of ways to encourage Japanese soldiers to surrender.

Conceding that American propaganda in the Pacific area was less successful than in Europe, Davis predicted its effectiveness would grow as defeats of the enemy mount. He added "Victory is after all the best propaganda."

Davis said there were signs Japanese fanatical resistance is b... ing. He cited Hollandia, Dutch Guinea, where, he asserted, a... able percentage of the Japanese... themselves up.

The OWI chief lunched at ... airfield. He had field rations and a bumpy jeep ride to the head... ters of Maj. Gen. Roy S. Geiger, ... eran officer of marines.

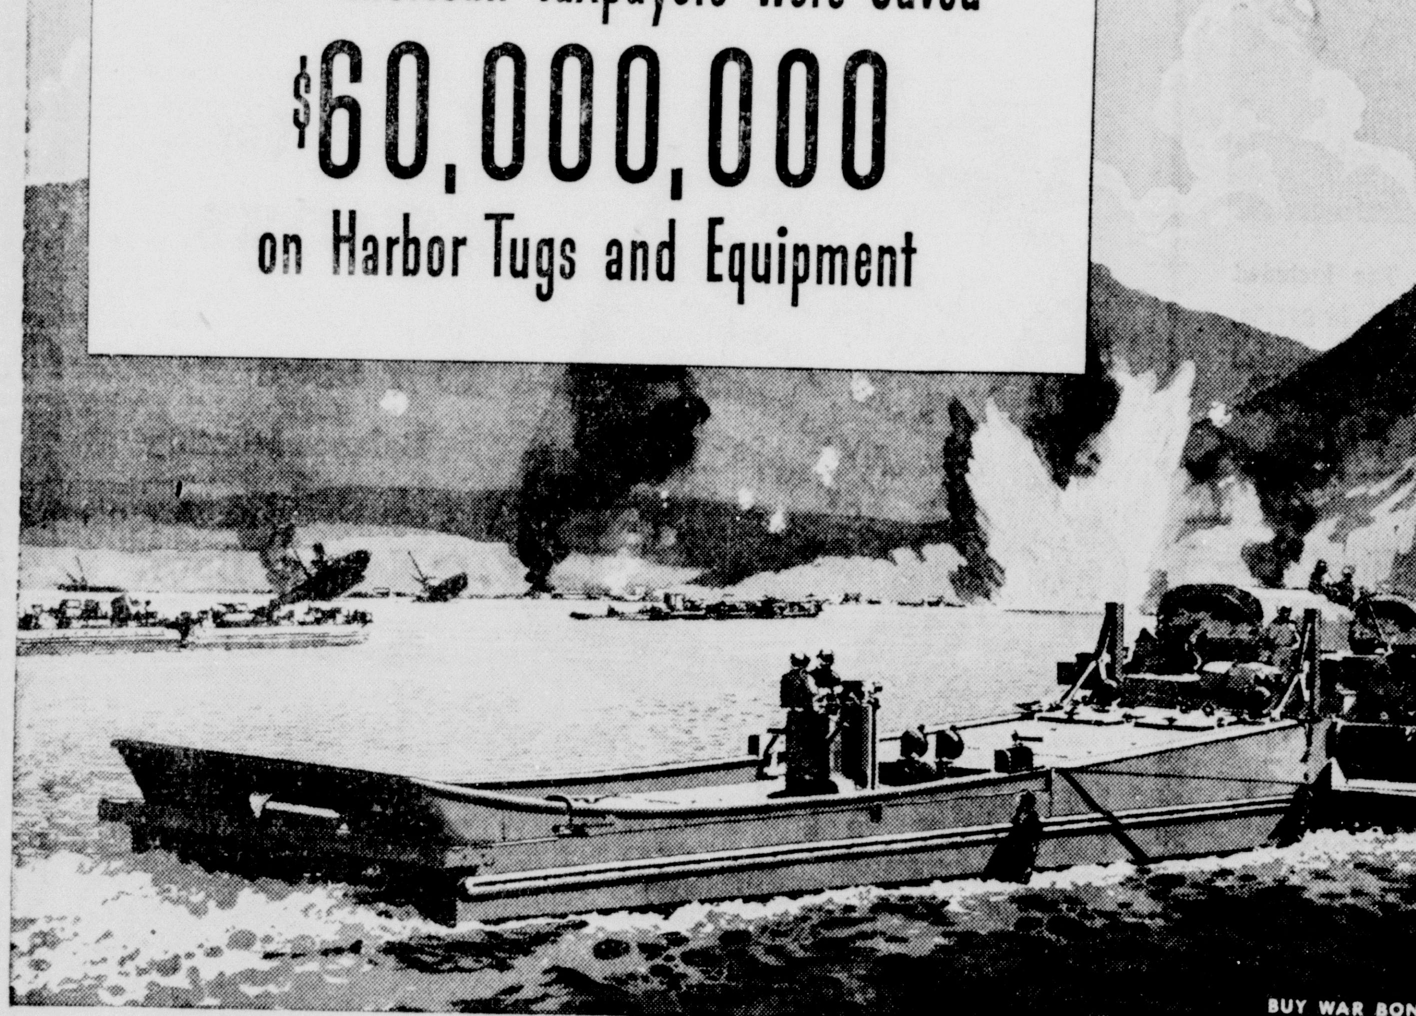
How American Taxpayers Were Saved
$60,000,000
on Harbor Tugs and Equipment



EARLY in the war there developed a tremendous need for tugs and power units to help speed delivery of supplies and equipment to millions of our fighting officers and men throughout the world.

In cooperation with the Army and Navy, our Chrysler Division, which had been building marine engines for many years, developed a marine tractor and a harbor tug (called the "Sea Mule"). We built them quickly and in large quantities, both of which were very important to the armed forces—and at a saving of $60,000,000 to American Taxpayers as compared to the cost of alternate equipment.

WARTIME EARNINGS LESS THAN IN PEACETIME

DURING 5 PRE-WAR YEARS before Pearl Harbor our earnings averaged 5½ cents per dollar received for all products. 5½ CENTS

DURING 1942-1943—two complete years of war production—our earnings averaged only 2⅗ cents per dollar received. 2⅗ CENTS

56.8% PAID OUT TO OTHER COMPANIES
More than half of all the money we have received on war production contracts—56.8%—we have passed along to more than 12,000 other companies, most of them small, for materials and services.

AUTO RECOVERED, 2 BOYS ARRESTED

An automobile allegedly stolen by two escaping Louisiana Training Institute boys here Thursday afternoon has been recovered at Shreveport and the youths, one 17 and the other 15 years old, arrested, according to Monroe police.

Arrest of the boys and recovery of the car owned by Mrs. Wista Worthen, 608 Hudson Lane, was reported by police last night. Mrs. Worthen's machine was stolen from Conway Memorial Hospital just south of L. T. I., shortly after 3 p. m. Thursday and the two boys were said to have been seen driving the car away.

It was the second time within a week that escaping L. T. I. boys had been apprehended in Shreveport with stolen cars.

An automobile belonging to Mrs. Otis Lanier, 1015 St. John street, was reported stolen last Monday night and the machine was recovered the next day at Shreveport and three L. T. I. boys were said to have been arrested in connection with the theft.

L. T. I. BOYS PICKED UP BY SHREVEPORT POLICE

The two juveniles who escaped from the Louisiana Training Institute Thursday were picked up in Shreveport by the police there early Saturday morning, according to a report received by the local police.

They were being held until L. T. I. officials were notified of the arrest. The car in which the boys made their escape, a 1939 Buick sedan, was said to be in running condition. The car had been wired around the ignition switch.

MANY WORK TO PROVIDE CRIPPLED CHILDREN CARE

Private Agencies, Clubs Co-operate With State And Federal Groups

By Dr. G. L. Mengis

In 1937, Dr. Scott Hamilton, the orthopedic surgeon then practicing in Monroe, Miss Lessie Stewart, registered nurse in the employ of the state board of health, Sherman E. Dodd, the chef de gare of the local voiture of the 40 and 8 of the American Legion, and the writer, then gran chef de gare of the Gran Voiture of the 40 and 8 of Louisiana, scheduled, and completed a clinic for crippled children in every parish of the Fifth congressional district. Up to that time, outside of New Orleans, the only clinics for crippled children were held under the auspices of the American Legion with Dr. Durham as the clinician, and Dr. Hatch, whose services were confined to south Louisiana and were promoted by the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children.

In 1938, Louisiana was the only state not participating in the federal allotment for services for crippled children, and it was during that year that the present plan under which the section of crippled children of the state board of health now operates, was completed and began in July 1, 1939.

This official agency is operated by the state board of health and has a budget of $150,000 annually, half of which is put up by the state board and the other half by the children's bureau of the federal department of labor. It provides care and treatment of an indigent child from birth to 21 years of age, for all crippling conditions, excepting the blind, the deaf and dumb, and those resulting from cardiac or heart lesions. This budget sets up fees for professional services, for hospitalization of surgical or medical cases, for the purchase of appliances, for transportation of patients and attendants, for nursing and physiotherapy, and for all other services that might be necessary for the welfare of the patient. This official agency has established centers at Shreveport, Monroe, Alexandria, Lafayette and New Orleans, and its staffs are made up of the very best orthopedic and plastic surgeons in the state. The armed forces drafted many of the clinicians at Lafayette, Shreveport, Monroe, and Alexandria, and it is now necessary to get surgeons from New Orleans to conduct clinics in south and central Louisiana. The clinics in Shreveport and Monroe are served by Shreveport clinicians. In spite of this handicap, the temporary loss of both doctors and nurses, the program for crippled children is still being carried on in a very creditable manner. We hold a clinic for crippled children here in our health center on every third Saturday when patients from all over northeast Louisiana are examined and treated by competent orthopedic and pediatric consultants. The reports on these cases are sent to their respective parish health units and this information is given to the parents by the unit nurses with instructions as to the best methods of carrying out the treatment recommended. Future appointments are scheduled at these clinics and operative procedures outlined for surgical cases.

Some confusion has existed in the public mind relative to the different agencies in the field of services for crippled children. First, there is the official agency of the state board of health, which furnishes the professional services, the cost of hospitalization, appliances such as splints, artificial limbs, crutches, etc., nursing service, home treatment, transportation of patients to and from hospitals. Second, there is the Louisiana Society for Crippled Children, a lay organization with chapters in each parish, whose funds are largely dependent upon the sale of Easter seals, fifty per cent of which goes out of the parish, and whose members assist in the conduct of all local crippled children clinics, furnishing lunches and cool drinks for the patients, buy shoes, furnish transportation for patients and attendants and from hospitals, and in quite a few cases, purchase appliances such as artificial limbs, splints, chairs, and other items necessary for adequate care and treatment. And third, the national foundation for infantile paralysis, with local chapters, whose source of funds depends upon the "March of Dimes" and president's birthday balls, fifty per cent of which goes out of the state, and is being used mostly for research. During the polio epidemic of last year and the one of this year, the national foundation has aided local authorities with funds and trained personnel in combating the disease, and eventually, it is hoped that the money now being spent for research, will rid this country of one of its most tragic diseases.

A bill has recently been enacted by the Louisiana state legislature which provides for services and facilities for the special education of physically handicapped children between the ages of five and twenty-one years who can not be taught with safety and profit with normal children in the public school.

The parish school boards are authorized, with the approval of the state department of education, to establish and maintain special classes for ten or more such handicapped children. Those special classes may be established in hospitals in the state or home teachers may be employed to go from home to home. Other state agencies are made responsible for finding and reporting to the department of education crippled cases. The parents or guardians of these handicapped children may petition the parish school board for the establishment of classes if the number of children is at least ten. In such cases, it becomes mandatory for the school board to organize a class. This bill was passed as Act 163 of 1944 and appropriates $45,000 for this purpose.

Whether or not this bill will be practical remains to be seen. In the larger cities, such an undertaking is entirely feasible. Just before the organization of the official agency for crippled children in this state, I had the opportunity of visiting St. Louis, Chicago, Detroit, and Cleveland and was very much impressed with the Spaulding Day School for Handicapped Children in Chicago. All types of crippled children are brought to this school daily in specially constructed buses and there are ramps of easy grades to all the floors. Physiotherapy is administered in heated pools and occupational therapy is taught all ages. It is remarkable to see what improvement is made in spastic cases over a long period of time; however, this school could only be operated economically in a large metropolitan center.

The other legislative act to establish a school for cerebral palsied children, or spastics, was passed by both houses, but was vetoed by the governor because in the body of the bill, the sum of $250,000 (a typographical or clerical error), was named instead of $25,000 as was the intent of the act.

We have on our staff two very fine plastic surgeons, Neil Owens and Waldemar Metz. Operations for hair lips, cleft palates, contracting scars and other deformities are being corrected by both of these New Orleans surgeons. Doctors Guy Caldwell, Battalora, Aldredge, and Morris, orthopedic surgeons, render efficient service in New Orleans and south Louisiana, while Dr. Durham and his assistant at the Shrine Hospital in Shreveport, conduct clinics there and at Monroe.

In addition, the Polio Center is operated by the official agency and the Charity Hospital in New Orleans, where doctors and nurses have become experienced in the care and treatment of cases of polio.

In addition to the agencies mentioned, there are two more which have been pioneers in the field of services for crippled children—the Masonic order, through its affiliated Shrine hospitals, and the Rotary Club, with its numerous local organizations scattered throughout the world. These two agencies, with the 40 and 8 of the American Legion, have done much to alleviate crippling conditions in children, and it is due to their efforts, in a large measure, that today adequate care facilities are provided by funds appropiated by state and federal official agencies on a matching basis.

Polio

The polio situation in Louisiana still remains very favorable—as yet, there have been no cases in Ouachita parish this year. The total number of cases reported this year so far total 107 as compared with a total of 69 cases for the entire year of 1943, with an average of 7 to 9 cases weekly since the sharp rise in May. It looks as if this present epidemic is traveling northeast from the Carolinas, as increased cases have occurred in Maryland, Virginia and New York—in adjacent states the incedence still remains low, slightly above the media.

NEGRO WOMAN ARRESTED

Naomi Clarks, Negro, living in the 3000 block of Jackson street, was arrested yesterday by sheriff's deputies on a peace warrant issued by Judge W. M. Harper on the complaint of Ruby Jewel Lawson. The Clarks woman was in the Ouachita parish jail late yesterday. Her bond was fixed at $150.

WEST MONROE LIONS PLAN FOOD SCHOOL

The regular luncheon of the West Monroe Lions Club was held Thursday at the First Baptist Church. C. G. Wall Jr., gave a report on the Lions International convention. He spoke mostly on the lighlights of the convention giving brief comments about the various speakers who addressed the meet.

It was announced at this meeting that the West Monroe Lions cooking and food conservation school will be held in the old West Monroe furniture building across the street from the Strand Theater. This is now the home of the Twin City Painting Company. The school is to be held September 1 and 2.

Louisiana Power and Light Company will conduct the cooking school and Mrs. Jewell McQuiller will conduct the food conservation program. This is to be under the sponsorship of the West Monroe Lions Club. The school will be free to everyone and plenty of prizes will be given away, there will be fun for everybody.

Funds derived from this cooking school project will go entirely to the sight conservation program and work among the blind, which is one of the Lions Club most important functions.

One new member, Eddie Ferguson, was introduced to the club. Guests of the club were Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Reid and Dewitt Henry.

books which have "failed of selection" (army officers recoil from the word "banned") because of decisions that they might be held to violate the no-propaganda section of the soldier vote law, produced the information that 15 titles are now on the list.

In addition to "Watching the World," a collection of the late Raymond Clapper's daily columns, the list includes "Lend Lease" by Edward R. Stettinius, under secretary of state; "Time for Decision," by Stettinius' predecessor, Sumner Welles, and Eric Johnston's "America Unlimited."

Senator James M. Mead's "Tell the Folks Back Home" is banned, as is "My Ten Years in Japan," by Joseph C. Grew, former ambassador in Tokyo. Others on the list, including the few previous announced, are:

"Yankee From Olympus," by Catherine Drinker Bowen; E. B. White's "One Man's Meat"; Charles and Mary Beard's "Basic History of the United States"; Charles A. Beard's "The Republic" (Beard is the only author on the list twice); Chang's biography of "Chiang Kai-Shek"; John Dos Passos' "State of the Nation"; Stuart Chase's "Rich Land Poor Land"; John Carlson's "Under Cover," and "The Official Guide to the Army Air Forces."

The section of the law under which these actions were taken—or, as in the case of the motion picture, not taken—is scheduled to get a going over in Congress next week. Senator Taft, Republican, Ohio, author of the original section, and Senator Green, Democrat, Rhode Island, have agreed on a new draft which the army officials expect to eliminate all the bans so far imposed, and obviate similar prohibitions in the future.

Declaring that America's fighting men overseas are "not idiots," Maury Maverick, smaller war plants corporation chairman, said today that legislative restrictions on what the army and navy may distribute to them in moving pictures, newspapers and other publications should be "immediately repealed."

on Halmahera, southern guardian of the Philippines, heavy and medium bombers struck shipping and aircraft. For the second time, no Japanese interception was reported.

Liberators smashed the important Galela airdrome Thursday, destroying or damaging at least 31 parked planes.

Mitchell mediums the next day sank 10 seaplanes at their mooring in Wasile bay, at the northern part of Halmahera. The Mitchells also sank a 1,000-ton freighter, seriously damaged the heavier freighter-transport and five coastal vessels and 28 barges.

Night patrols bombed the Miti airdrome and blew up a nearby ammunition dump.

This was the heaviest bag of aircraft at Halmahera, some 300 miles south of Mindanao, which was brought under intensive American aerial attack in late July.

Boston attack planes hit shipping around Vogelkop, sinking three freighters and damaging another. Five coastal vessels and eight barges also were damaged.

A week's bombings in this theater have cost the Japanese 10 freighters sunk and 11 freighters and 11 coastal vessels damaged. A total of 20 ships have been sunk this far in August.

In what the communique called "final mopping up operations" in the Aitape area of British New Guinea, an additional 1,057 Japanese killed were reported. Nipponese dead now total 8,064 since the trapped 18th imperial army attempted to break Allied encirclement July 12.

JAPANESE SPEEDING UP HOME DEFENSES

UNITED STATES FLEET HEADQUARTERS, Pearl Harbor, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Blistering American air raids along the sea approaches to Japan and the Philippines have caused war-jittery Nippon to speed up her home defense plans and rush reinforcements into other threatened areas.

Chinese reports specifically mentioned the sending of reinforcements to the Philippines and Formosa as American commanders in the central and southwest Pacific disclosed heavy aerial strikes against Japanese strongholds into those war theaters.

In the latest attack on the southeastern flank of Japan's home defenses, American army Liberators unloaded 47 tons of explosives on Iwo Island, 750 miles from Tokyo. The land-based bombers undoubtedly flew from Saipan, in the Marianas, where Yank forces have conquered three strategic islands—Saipan, Guam and Tinian. Fifteen hundred miles west of Guam lies Luzon Island, most important of the Philippines.

Other Americans fliers blasted Halmahera, 300 miles south of the Philippines, and hit Talaud Island, 100 miles closer to Mindanao Island where the Japanese have a major base at Davao. In the Halmera strike the Yank airmen took another bite out of Nippon's badly battered merchant marine. They sank four freighters and other shipping. Another freighter was damaged near Talaud.

Meanwhile the Berlin radio quoted Japanese newspapers as saying that Superfortress aerial strikes against Nippon proper to date "are but attempts on the part of the enemy to gather experience for future raids on a major scale."

Tokyo previously announced that the Koiso cabinet, after studying reports on the recent B-29 strikes against vital Japanese war industries, had decided to speed homeland defense arrangements.

The extent of U. S. air support of the successful amphibious operations against the Marianas Islands was officially disclosed at Central Pacific Forward Air Command Headquarters. During July these air arms dumped more than 3,500 tons of explosives on the Japanese.

Simultaneously combined American air forces were neutralizing other Japanese bases at Truk, Ponape, Nauru, Maleolap, Jaluit and Mili Islands in the Central and South Pacific. Truk, a flank threat to the Marianas, was hit with upwards of 800 tons of bombs.

The report made the significant statement that, except at Truk, the Yank airmen sighted virtually no enemy shipping during the month.

mander of United States army service forces, had arrived to inspect military installations in the Mediterranean theater.

Allied concentration on such enemy coastal targets as pillboxes, radio stations and gun emplacements along the French coast and the Italian Riviera coincided with a plastering of the southern French transportation nerve center of Toulouse by United States bombers shuttling from Russian bases via Italy on the way home to Britain.

Yesterday's big attack along the coast by tactical units struck a section of France whose communications with the Rhone valley already were badly damaged by repeated air raids.

For the first time medium Mitchell and Marauder bombers, Thunderbolts and R. A. F. Spitfires blazed away over a long stretch of southern France and for 40 miles of the neighboring Italian Riviera, singling out targets of German defenses.

Mitchells in considerable strength pounded gun positions near St. Tropez and St. Raphael, respectively 15 and 30 miles southwest of the French port of Cannes. Explosions and fires indicated ammunition stores had gone up in smoke.

Without encountering flak or fighter opposition, Marauders bombed four gun batteries east of the naval base of Toulon, including one on Ile du Levant.

Spitfires, some roaring in no more than ten feet above ground, strafed radio and gun positions at Cap d'Antibes, St. Raphael, Cap Benat and Cap Camarat, all between Marseille and nice, caught Germans running for their guns, drove some back and killed others.

The American Fortresses, homebound from Italian bases after shuttling from Britain to Russia, struck an airfield five miles southwest of Toulouse, London advices said.

Today's raids by heavy bombers also spread out to coastal defenses of northwest Italy, and while some enemy fighters were encountered, flak was light to moderate on all operations and good results were reported.

SLOVAKIA

hind the lines of the back-tracking German armies and officially discredited previous claims of Slovakian collaborators that the resistance movement was only a slight affair in which most of our forces had been "liquidated."

Slovakia, a remnant of Czecho-Slovakia, was declared an independent state under German "protection" in March, 1939. Russian troops already are near its eastern border, climbing the Carpathian mountains south of Sanok in pre-war Poland.

The development there coincided with significant reports from various parts of the Balkans.

A report from Belgrade, Yugoslavia, relayed via Switzerland, said that Field Marshal Gen. Maximilian von Weichs, German commander in chief in the Balkans, had been wounded by a young Nazi lieutenant in an assassination attempt—presumably part of the chaos existing between the Nazi party and the German army.

From Istanbul came an apparently well-founded report that a group or Romanian party leaders under Juliu Maniu, peasant party chief, had formed a provisional government, seeking a way out of war.

This peace movement was being solidified, it was said, with the full knowledge of Premier Marshal Ion Antonescu. He was represented as unable to interfere. (The British radio broadcast Friday night an unconfirmed Bern dispatch that Antonescu had resigned.)

goes on seven northern French airfields near Paris, Reims and Laon, and bombardiers said results were good in perfect flying weather.

Wave on wave of medium and light bombers and fighters roamed the battlefront, bent on making good the prediction of Air Chief Marshal Sir Trafford Leigh-Mallory that any German army in retreat would face annihilation from the air.

These tactical forces swarmed on behind the enemy lines, blasting at communications and other vital targets which prompted staff officers to assert that Allied ground forces had been given the most widespread and efficient air support in the history of warfare.

The Mediterranean heavy bombers flung against the military installations along the bomb-pocked underbelly of fortress Europe followed up closely the first tactical attacks on pill boxes, gun batteries and radio installations yesterday.

The Fortresses which returned from Italy with a round-trip escort of Mustangs today came back with the remarkable record of not losing a man.

ments in the capital and on all war fronts. But he didn't offer a guess on the war's end.

No word of politics entered his speech, delivered from the base on a gun mount of the destroyer which brought him into the heart of this bustling navy yard. His visible audience, consisted of sailors, navy officers and workers who lined the dockside to hear the chief executive's first speech since he accepted the Democratic renomination on July 20.

In tonight's address he praised highly the preparations for warfare in both places. He pointed out near the start of his address that, during his absence, he has been in constant daily communication with Washington and with fighting forces in the European and Far Eastern war theaters.

Sailors, workers and guests who jammed the dockside of the Puget Sound navy yard waved as the president's ship moved in. The chief executive, wearing a felt hat and dark suit, waved back and chatted with those on shipboard as the vessel came in. He puffed easily on a cigarette and conversed with his daughter, Anna Boettiger.

The president revealed that near Juneau, Alaska, "I played hookey for three hours, went fishing and caught one halibut and one flounder."

For the most part, his talk was devoted to a serious discussion of the Pacific war and future military and economic developments in the vast area.

"The self interests of our Allies will be affected by fair and friendly collaboration with us," Mr. Roosevelt said. They too will gain in national security. They will gain economically. The destinies of the peoples of the whole Pacific will for many years be entwined with our own destiny. Already there are stirring among hundreds of millions of them a desire for the right to work out their own destinies, and they show no evidence of seeking to over-run the earth—with one exception.

"That exception is and has been for many, many years that of Japan and the Japanese people—because whether or not the people of Japan itself know and approve of what their lords have done for nearly a century, the fact remains that they seem to be giving hearty approval to the Japanese policy of acquisition of their neighbors and their neighbors' lands, and a military and economic control of as many other nations as they can lay their hands on."

Mr. Roosevelt said it is "an unfortunate fact" that the world cannot trust Japan, and added:

"It is an unfortunate fact that years of proof must pass before we can trust Japan, and before we can classify Japan as a member of the society of nations which seek permanent peace and whose word we can take."

By removing the future menace of Japan, he said, "we are holding out the hope that other people in the Far East can be freed from the same threat."

He said the peoples of the Philippines, Korea, Indo-China, New Guinea and the mandated islands have no wish to be Japanese slaves, and he declared we are in "the splendid process" of throwing the Japanese out.

The president said the war in the Pacific is "well in hand" but observed:

"I cannot tell you, if I knew, when the war will be over either in Europe or in the Far East or the war against Japan.

"It will be over the sooner," he said, "if the people of this country will maintain the making of the necessary supplies and ships and planes. By so doing we will hasten the day of peace. By so doing we will save our own pocketbooks and those of our children; by so doing we will run a better chance of substantial unity among the United Nations in laying more securely the foundation of a lasting peace."

The president stood at a microphone at the base of a gun-mount on the destroyer to deliver his address in the navy yard. A cloudy sky obscured the sun.

He appeared tanned from his long sea voyages of recent days.

Sailors and workers jammed the area before his ship to listen to his words. As he stood to speak, a cheer and applause went up from the audience. He waved a return greeting.

While the president sat aboard the vessel before time for his speech the Puget Sound navy yard band played swing tunes from a temporary bandstand thrown up on the dockside.

In his speech, Mr. Roosevelt went into detailed description of the military installations he visited in the Pacific.

He told of his military conferences in Honolulu with "my old friend Gen. Douglas MacArthur," and said he had participated in "interesting and useful conferences accompanied by Admiral Nimitz and my own chief of staff, Admiral Leahy, and General Richardson, the commanding general of army forces in the Hawaiian area, and Admiral Halsey, commander of the Third fleet."

The three days of conferences, he said, "developed complete accord both in the understanding of the problem that confronts us and in the opinion as to the best method for its solution."

The chief executive interrupted his prepared text to comment on what he termed "a modern marvel"—the fact that newspapers did not break security to discuss his trip, although they were in on the secret from the time he left Washington.

The president said the Hawaiian Islands have been converted from a mere outpost to a major base for frontline operations in the Pacific. He brought a cheer from his audience when he declared "the islands will make possible future operations in China—make possible the recapture and independence of the Philippines, and make possible the carrying of war into the home islands of Japan itself, and its capital city of Tokyo."

Mr. Roosevelt said upon his return to Washington he intends to set up a study of Alaska and the Aleutian Islands as "a place to which many veterans of this war, especially those who do not have strong roots in their own homes, can go to become pioneers."

Returning to the future of the Pacific the chief executive said:

"Line for sea and air navigation following the great circle course from Puget Sound to Siberia and northern China passes very close to the Alaskan coast and thence westward along the line of the Aleutian Islands. From the point of view of national defense, therefore, it is essential that our control of this route shall be undisputed.

"Everybody in Siberia and China knows that we have no ambition to acquire land on the continent of Asia," he said. "We as a people are utterly opposed to aggression or sneak attacks—but we as a people are insistent that other nations must not under any circumstances through the foreseeable future commit such attacks against the United States.

"Therefore it is essential that we be fully prepared to prevent them for all time to come. The word and the honor of Japan cannot be trusted."

powerful and long inactive British Empire forces no longer needed in Africa, Egypt, Iran and Iraq.

His jurisdiction extends also to Free French divisions still in Algeria, on Sardinia and Corsica. It touches Allied commando and air units cooperating with Balkan patriots in action against the common foe. Wilson's transfer to Italy looms as no less significant than Eisenhower's move to France. Both moves foreshadow new and bold expansions of the attack on Germany from the west aand south to match the tremendous new triple Russian threat against her in the each reaching all the way from the Baltic to the Black sea.

Against the background of this ever-darkening war picture for her Nazi accomplice in Europe Japan must read the portents of the Pacific war council at Pearl Harbor, Roosevelt attended and just disclosed. It verified the Churchill announcement that the war against Japan no longer need wait upon the war against Germany for the men and materiel to drive it at full speed to a victorious conclusion.

MYSTERY

anchor point of German positions west of the Orne.

West of Conde the British were battling crack German troops in the town of Chenedolle six miles east of Vire. The heavy fighting here as well as that southeast of St. Sylvain involved both German SS troops and paratroops and the Allies found thickly mined each bit of territory they were able to gain.

South of Vire the Americans recaptured Mortain, thus adding to the pressure on the Germans' Vire salient, but progress beyond that bitterly contested point was slowed by stubborn resistance.

RUSSIANS

miles of the Warsaw-Bialystok railway on a broad front between the besieged Polish capital and beyond the Bug river as the Russians wheeled toward East Prussia.

Driving northwest along both sides of the Bialystok-Lyck railway leading to East Prussia's southeastern corner, Zakharov's troops captured Klewyanka, only seven miles east of the railway where it crosses the Biebrza river. Klewyanka itself is only 18 miles from the East Prussian border, and other troops fighting along the Augustow canal farther north are within 11 miles of the frontier.

West of Bialystok other units under Zakharov rolled to within 20 miles east of Lomza with the capture of Szafranki, and 24 miles southeast of that big German stronghold with the seizure of Wnory rail station.

Rokossovsky's troops, spread out over a broad front between the Bug river and Warsaw, also were threatening to collapse the last big German defenses before the southern border of East Prussia. Dabrowica, 16 miles northeast of Warsaw, and less than four miles from the Warsaw-Bialystok railway, fell to the Soviet forces in this big wheeling movement.

Other villages captured on the battleline extending toward the Bug river, included Olechny, 55 miles northeast of Warsaw and only 14 miles southeast of Ostromazowiecka. The latter city along with imperilled Lomza are the main German bastions before East Prussia.

Berlin broadcasts said the German situation west of the Vistula river, 100 miles south of Warsaw where the Russians have established a great bridgehead pointed toward German Silesia 75 miles beyond, "still was grave." Moscow's bulletin did not mention any gains in that vital sector but said Soviet troops successfully repulsed German counterattacks by large infantry and tank forces.

The Germans, threatened with a splitting of their front between Warsaw and Krakow in southern Poland, were putting up a furious fight on the sun-baked plains, realizing that a Soviet breakthrough here would find the Russians soon spilling into Germany itself. The intensity of the fighting on all fronts was indicated by Moscow's announcement that 71 German tanks had been wrecked during Friday.

In southern Estonia Gen. Ivan Maslennikov's Third Baltic army rolled on westward beyond Petseri, important rail junction which fell under the impact of his resumed offensive Friday. His troops curving around Lake Pskov took Molozva in a three-mile advance along the lake, and the units striking due westward captured Tabina, 11 miles beyond Petseri and only 105 miles from the Gulf of Riga.

Among the 60 localities taken by Maslennikov's troops was Saika, 14 miles southwest of Petseri, and their apparent aim was to further chop up the 30 German divisions cut off in Latvia and Estonia.

Gen. Andrei Yeremenko's Second Baltic army, sweeping toward the Gulf of Riga from the southeast, captured more than 50 places, including Gaudzese, only 50 miles from Riga, Latvian capital.

In western Latvia Gen. Ivan Begramian's First Baltic army suddenly veered westward in a combined [drive] toward Liepaja and Memel. His [troops] already had cut the land escape [route] of the two German Baltic arm[ies] driving a wedge northward [to the] Gulf of Riga.

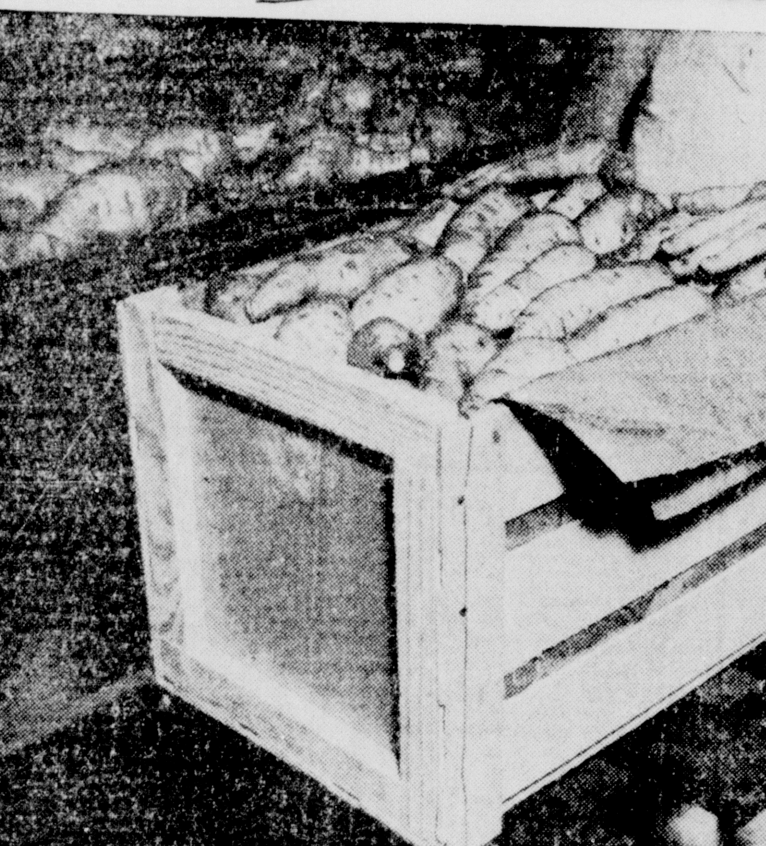
FARMERS

Trees are needed as well as food



Cut Them NOW

Shortages of sawlogs and pulpwood are critical. Without more wood to make crates, boxes, baskets, cartons, and paper containers, food for our Armed Forces cannot be promptly processed or properly packaged. Without more wood to build trucks, freight cars, freight planes, gliders, and cargo ships, food from American farms cannot be rushed to the battle fronts. Trees cut from farm woodlands will help win the war as much as weapons in the hands of our fighting men. Cut your mature trees for veneer logs or sawlogs; thin crowded young stands for pulpwood. For advice on proper marking and cutting or help in marketing call on your Farm Forester or Timber Project Forester. Ask your County Agent. Cut wisely, but cut them now!

[SO]FTBALL FINALS [T]O START MONDAY

[All]state Tiremen To Meet Red [S]hield Club In Championship Series

[Th]e championship finals of the Red [Shie]ld Senior Softball League get un[der]way here tomorrow afternoon [whe]n the Allstate Tiremen, defending [cham]pions, tackle the Red Shield ag[greg]ation at 6:30 o'clock on the Lida [Bent]on diamond.

[Al]lstate and Red Shield gained the [cham]pionship round the past week [with] straight victories over the Com[...]tios and Hunt and Whitaker re[spect]ively with two wins in the semi-[final] playoff determining the finalist.

[Th]e championship of the league goes [to th]e team first winning three games [in th]e playoff starting tomorrow.

[Th]e second game will be played [Tues]day, and the third game is slated [for] Thursday evening. The dates for play fourth or fifth games, if necessary, will be announced later.

A pair of no-hit no-run hurlers may be opposing each other on the mound tomorrow. While neither club has announced its battery, Joe Kilcoyne, Allstate, and Charlie (Shadow) Brown, Red Shield, both of whom have achieved no-hit performances this season, are likely to be in action. Allstate has an excellent twirler in Bob Cohen, and Ira Bobo has done some good mound work for the Shielders also.

All games of the playoff are slated for the Lida Benton diamond, beginning at 6:30 p. m.

Lynn Hurls Bruins To Victory In Series Final; Reds Shade Braves

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The Chicago Cubs salvaged the last game of a four-game series with the Brooklyn Dodgers today, as Japhet (Red) Lynn blanked the Dodgers with five hits to give the Cubs a 2-0 victory. The triumph ended a five-game losing streak for the Bruins.

SPORTS ROUNDUP

By Hugh Fullerton, Jr.

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—First entry for the National Tennis Championships is 46-year-old Gil Hall, recently discharged from the tank corps . . . and the U. S. L. T. A. probably is hoping that Gil won't be able to go through the field without the aid of a tank. . . . In Latrobe, Pa., site of the first pro football game in 1895, the public library has had duplicates made of all the early pro data gathered by Dr. John Braillier, the first professional player, and keeps it under lock and key as a historical document. . . . Now if they could only make duplicates of such historical items as Jim Thorpe and Red Grange—and unlock 'em.

Weary Query

For the Q. and A. Dept. Nolly J. Sams of a Charleston (S. C.) paper suggests one on how many perfect games ever have been pitched in the major leagues. . . . The Green-Red book lists six, including Ernie Shore's performance for the Red Sox in 1917 when he relieved Babe Ruth after the Babe passed the first man and the umpire passed Ruth out of the park. . . . The other perfect-game pitchers: John Lee Richmond, Worcester, and John M. Ward, Providence, both National League, and Cy Young, Boston, Addie Joss, Cleveland, and C. C. Robertson, Chicago, American League.

Sportspourri

Did you notice that the army teams outnumber the civilians more than 2 to 1 in the National Semi-Pro Baseball Tournament? . . . The Cardinals now only lead the National League in games won and lost, but they're just as far ahead in what Bill Brandt calls the "BBP"—the parade of baseballs fouled into the stands and returned to be shipped to service men. . . . One newspaperman attending those "hush-hush" meetings where a new pro football league is being organized is said to represent Lt. Com. Gene Tunney, who wants the Baltimore franchise.

Unanswered Question

After starting to compile Clemson's football roster, Tub Thumper Joe Sherman pauses to ask what became of the "old days when men were men?" . . . The 33 under-18-year-old candidates for the Tiger squad average 5-11½ in height and 176.5 pounds.

Service Dept.

Sgt. Pat Abbott, who has been cleaning up in Colorado golf circles this summer, played a double feature last Sunday when he completed 18 holes in a tournament final, hurried to church for the christening of his month-old daughter, then returned to the links to dispose of Jack Koennecker. . . . Capt. Jack (Pinky) Salmon, former Maryville (Mo.) Teachers basketball captain, recently was awarded the Air Medal with six Oak Leaf Clusters in England. He's a bomber pilot with more than 40 missions.

SENATORS LOSE BUT NOBODY SEEKS SCALP OF MANAGER BLUEGE

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—This is probably the only town around the major league circuits where a ball club can put in an utterly dismal showing for weeks on end without the fans trying to get the manager fired.

Just a couple of months back, the Washington Senators were rated a right fair ball club. In pre-season polls many experts picked them as sure pennant contenders. They came through as predicted during the spring months, flirting with first place and seldom falling below third.

Today the Senators are comfortably entrenched in eighth (last) place in the American League. They've lost 21 of their last 24 starts, 18 of the reversals coming on a recent road trip through the West. They're 19 1-2 games behind the pace-setting St. Louis Browns and two and a half back of Philadelphia, an almost unanimous pre-season choice for the cellar berth.

And yet nobody around Washington blames Ossie Bluege, the mild-mannered manager who maneuvered the club to a second place finish a year ago. They just charge it off to hard luck, lack of material and spotty performances all around.

"It's still a good ball club, but we've had everything bad happen to us almost from the day the season started," Bluege lamented.

A casual study of the box scores bears him out. When the Senators have good pitching, the hitters have been breaking their backs popping out to the infield. If the hitters connect, the hurlers look like third-rate semi-pro rookies.

Last night, for instance, the Detroit Tigers plastered three Washington pitchers for 16 blows. The fairly-sizeable crowd had two occasions to stand and cheer—one when the Star Spangled Banner was played and again at the traditional seventh-inning stretch.

MISSIONS PLAY AT ALEXANDRIA TODAY

The Selman Field Missions move into their last lap this afternoon, taking on the Camp Claiborne Railsplitters at Alexandria in the first of three games remaining on the 1944 schedule.

After the Claiborne encounter, the Missions will face the Mississippi Ordnance Plant at Jackson, Miss., on Wednesday, and close Sunday with Camp Polk at Casino park.

Hampered by illness which seems to have swept the club, Blair will be without the services today of slugging Billy Gibson, left fielder, shortstop Claud Corbitt and catcher Fred Dudgeon.

With Marion Reed, a portsider on the mound, Blair will use a makeshift lineup of Ed Steinhauser at center, Mack Bishop in one of the outfield posts, and an infield of Pete Medak, Dick Washburn, Blair and Othel Payne.

The Missions walloped the Railsplitters here last Sunday, 11-3.

By June, 1944, Civil Air Patrol pilots and observers had flown more than 24,000,000 miles over the ocean, spotted 173 submarines and 363 ship survivors.

BROWNS TAKE 3RD WIN FROM YANKS

McQuinn Leads St. Louis In 8-3 Triumph; Red Sox Beat Chicago

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The St. Louis Browns made it three out of four from the New York Yankees today and their 11th out of their last 12, by defeating the New Yorkers 8-3 before 13,465 paid admissions.

George McQuinn paced the league-leaders with two homers and a single to drive in five runs. Each of his round trippers, one in the first frame and the other in the ninth, came with one man on base.

MISS GERMAIN RETAINS WESTERN GOLF CROWN

CHICAGO, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Playing each shot with grim determination, Dorothy Germain defeated Phyllis Otto 5 and 4 today to retain her crown as women's western amateur champion—an achievement unduplicated in the last 12 years.

The Philadelphia star thus became the seventh player in the tournament's 44-year history to capture the crown twice in succession and the first to do so since Mrs. Opal S. Hill impressed the sports world with her sweep in 1931 and 1932.

Miss Germain, 20-year-old Beaver College junior, was only three over par for the long Onwentsia course for the 32 holes required to win, while her Omaha, Neb., opponent, trying desperately to regain her putting confidence, was 10 over.

What had been a close, intense match in the morning round was transformed into a near rout on the first nine of the afternoon as Miss Germain uncorked her typical blitz methods and shot a one-under-par 37 for a 4-up lead at the 27-hole juncture.

Ann Casey of Mason City, Iowa, won the consolation championship with a 2 and 1 victory over Margaret Gunther of Memphis, Tenn.

SELMAN DIVIDES 2 SOFTBALL BATTLES

A double header softball game played yesterday afternoon between a picked team of officers from Big Springs Bombardier School, Big Springs, Texas, and officers of Selman field resulted in the identical scores of 4 to 1 for each team.

The Selman team sewed up the opener in the third inning when they chalked up three runs. Another run in the fourth gave them too much of a lead for the BZ team of the visitors to overcome. Vigilance relaxed enough for the visitors to chalk up one run in the fourth.

Washburn of Selman stole the show during the seven innings with his brilliant coverage of first base. He was able to snag four flies from well over the foul line and never missed a catch at his position on base.

In the second half of the double header, Selman started out well with one run in the second inning, but the BZ team tightened and Selman was unable to score again. Big Springs scored two runs in the second and two runs in the third to make a game apiece with exactly the same score.

Pitching seemed to be the mainstay of the ball game and extraordinary form was displayed by both Bradbeer of the visitors and Armstrong of Selman.

WEINTRAUB HURT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Phil Weintraub, first baseman of the New York Giants, will be out of the game for at least two weeks, it was announced today. Weintraub, in attempting to field a ground ball in today's game with the Pittsburgh Pirates, had his left hand split between the thumb and index finger so badly that it was necessary to take three stitches in the wound.

PROS DRILL FOR P. G. A. TOURNEY

Links Battle For $20,000 Starts Over Spokane Course Monday

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Top flight professional golfers polished up their games today for the $20,000 National P. G. A. championship, which opens here Monday, and from the class of the field the 1944 holding of this exclusive event promised to produce as keen a title chase as in the years preceding the war.

Sprinkled among the eighty-odd entries, were such links notables as the "big four" of the year, Harold McSpaden, Philadelphia, Byron Nelson, Toledo, Ohio, Sammy Byrd, Redor, Mich., and Craig Wood, Mamaroneck, N. Y. They are the leading bond winners of 1944, in the order named.

This quartet has dominated virtually every tournament played since the little Texan, Benny Hogan, and colorful Sam Snead joined the armed forces more than a year ago.

Practice rounds over the Manito course developed less sub-par golf than expected, with the exception of sparkling efforts by George Schneiter, slender Salt Lake City entry, who posted successive scores of 69 and 68. Par for the heavily wooded layout is 36-36—72.

The big job facing the bulk of the entries was to eliminate the "big four" and the incentive naturally was greater because the National P. G. A. title is the goal of every member pro. Its prestige is second only to that of United States Open champion, the crown which Craig Wood wears for the duration. Snead, the West Virginian, won the last P. G. A. national, in 1942.

Renewal this year makes the championship the richest since it was conceived in 1916. The Spokane Athletic Round Table, sponsoring the links classic, not only boosted the total prize money to the peak $20,000 but is turning over all proceeds from it to two army hospitals in this area.

Qualifying rounds of 18 holes daily will be played Monday and Tuesday, with the 32 qualifiers pairing off for 36 holes of match play daily starting Wednesday. Finals will be Sunday, August 20.

KALLIO TRAVELERS PLAY BASTROP HERE

Kallio's Travelers, local semi-pro baseball club with a record of five victories against no defeats, goes into action again this afternoon against the Bastrop baseball club here. The game is scheduled to begin at 2:30 o'clock at Casino Park.

The Travelers, sponsored by Gus Kallio, former wrestling champion, have been getting good hitting from the team in general and top-form twirling from a pair of hurlers, John Inzina and Bernie Van, either of whom may be called upon to start today's contest. Ray Spicer, himself a capable third baseman, first baseman and pitcher, is the Travs' playing manager.

The probable starting lineup was announced last night as Sam Mitchell, left field; Andy Canal, shortstop; Spicer, third base; Sterling McClain, center field; Pete Gonzales, right field; Chuck Kroll, first base; Mason Bass, third base; Sam Canal, catcher, and Van or Inzina, pitcher. In reserve are Sam Rubin and Nick Inzina, catchers; B. C. Harper, Angelo Battaglia, Sam Inzina and Bill Primm, outfielders, and Stanley Passman, infielder.

BROGAN ADVANCES IN M'GUIRE MEET

Other Quarter-Finals Matches To Be Played At Course Today

Charles Brogan won his way to the semi-finals of the McGuire Park Club Championship tournament yesterday when he defeated Frank Johnson, 2 and 1, in the only quarter-final match played so far in his year's event.

Brogan's semi-final opponent will be either "Shep" Girault, the defending champion, or Ford Hines, both of whom are slated to meet today in their quarter-final engagement.

Other quarter-final matches slated for today send Bunn Beasley against J. Y. Pipes, and Wesley (Bobby) Shafto against Dr. R. B. Henry.

Finalists in the consolation flight were determined the past week, and the championship consolation match will be between Frank Demaree and T. John, both of whom reached the finals on defaults from S. M. McReynolds and W. M. Mitchell, respectively. Demaree had reached the semi-finals by beating R. L. Junod, and John likewise advanced with a win over George Tyner.

Golfers participating in the tournament are allowed one week in which to arrange for the playing of each match. The semi-finals in the championship flight will be played some time next week, not later than next Sunday, and the championship final will take place the next week.

APPLEKNOCKER WINNER OF DICK WELLES RACE

CHICAGO Aug. 12.—(AP)—Pensive, winner of the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, was defeated for the sixth consecutive time today as Appleknocker swept to victory in the $17,850 Dick Welles Handicap at Washington Park.

Pensive, coupled with Miss Keeneland as the Calumet Farm entry broke tenth and last in the mile event, but finished fourth with a rousing burst of speed, three and three-quarter lengths behind the winner.

Owned by the Texas combination of R. A. Coward and Carl Dupuy, Appleknocker had a neck to spare over Allen Drumheller's Sirde while three lengths farther back was Hyman Friedberg's Harriet Sue, the early pace-setter.

Coupled with Doggone in the wagering, Appleknocker paid $9, 3.80 and $3, while Sirde was $3.60 and $3, and Harriet Sue $4.60. The winner's net on the race was $12,350 and it was his second victory in a row.

TRAVELERS SIGN TWO PITCHING PROSPECTS

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Ray Dilbeck of San Diego, lefthanded pitcher of the Pacific Coast League for two years, has been acquired on option by the Little Rock Travelers, Business Manager Ray Winder announced tonight.

Also signed for the pitching staff of the Rocks is righthander Elmer Leonard of DeSoto, Mo., Winder said.

SEVEN HEARTS WINNER OF FEATURE AT DETROIT

DETROIT, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Seven Hearts, J. Graham Brown's four-year-old chestnut colt, earned a nose decision over Colonel Teddy, a 12 to 1 shot, today in the $15,000 frontier handicap, richest purse of the regular 72-day Detroit Fairgrounds race meeting, which ended today. A 33-day charity meeting for war relief opens Monday.

Seven Hearts, well handled by Jockey Harry Hart, covered the mile and one-eighth of the frontier in 1:50 flat and paid $8 straight. Red Dock, a 20 to 1 shot, was third, eight lengths back, and the 8 to 5 favorite Nelson Dunstan was fourth.

BRITISH CAPTURE TOWN OF TAUNGNI

CHUNGKING, Aug. 12.—(AP)—British troops after a one-week drive in difficult weather have captured the strategic north Burmese railway town of Taungni, 17 miles south of the former Japanese base of Mogaung, the Chinese command announced tonight.

(Expulsion of the last remaining Japanese from northeastern India along the Burma border was reported imminent in a dispatch from southeast Asia command headquarters at Kandy, Ceylon. Allied troops on the Tiddim road below Imphal were only a few miles from the Burma border.)

The British found Taungni wrecked, disease rampant and the stench of dead Japanese so great that the Allied troops found it impossible to enter the city in force, a Chinese communique stated. There was much evidence of malaria and beriberi, and the stench of the city was "distinct even two miles to the north," the bulletin declared.

The British drove to Taungni through Nampadaung and Sahmaw, beginning the push by capturing strongly-defended "Hill 60" controlling a good stretch of the railway.

"Most of the countryside in the Taungni area is flooded," the Chinese commuique said. "In many places the water is three to four feet deep. Bridges are cut and the transportation of equipment and artillery is almost impossible.

UNBEATEN PAVOT, BY JIMMINY WIN

Odds-On Favorites Capture Saratoga Features At Belmont Track

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Unbeaten Pavot and By Jimminy, both odds-on favorites, shared the limelight at Belmont Park today before 29,875 turf fans. Pavot won his fifth straight race in the six furlongs Saratoga Special while By Jimminy captured the 75th running of the historic Travers, America's oldest stake race.

By Jimminy, Alfred Parker's three-year-old colt, returned to the form that won his the Shelvin and Dwyer Stakes in beating Mrs. Henry C. Phipps' Free Lance by a length in the Travers. William Ziegler Jr.'s Bounding Home, surprise winner of the Belmont two months ago, finished third, two lengths further behind. Col. C. V. Whitney's Hoodoo and Mrs. Barclay Dauglas' Captains Aide completed the field.

Pavot, owned by Walter M. Jeffords and hailed as the two-year-old champion, put on a burst of speed in the last 100 yards after it seemed he would be the victim of a major upset. At that point George Wiedener's Plebiscite held a head lead.

Jockey George Woolf gave Pavot a lick with the stock and the son of Case Ace whized by Plebiscite to win by three lengths. Colonel Whiteney's Jeep took the show with Mrs. Dodge Sloan's Great Power fourth and last.

In picking up $25,075 in the Travers and thereby boosting his winnings to $105,725, By Jimminy led virtually all the way. Captains Aide stayed on even terms for the first six furlongs, run in 1:11.4, but soon wilted under the brisk pace.

Jockey Eddie Arcaro, up on By Jimminy, stood off all challenges.

In winning his fifth race in nine starts this year by Jimminy was timed in 2:03 2-5 and paid $3.50, $2.70 and $2.30.

Pavot boosted his winnings to $57,390 in taking the $5,000 winner-take-all Saratoga special in the fast time of 1:09 3-5. In addition, his owner received the Special gold cup. Pavot paid $2.70 to win and $2.20 to place There was no show betting.

PHILS BLANK CARDS

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Dick Barrett shutout the league leading St. Louis Cardinals on four hits to give Philadelphia a 3 to 0 victory tonight.

The Phillies scored their first run in the second on one hit. Charley Letchas walked and went to third on Johnny Peacock's double and scored on Glen Stewart's fly to Danny Litwhiler. In the third Buster Adams opened with a single, moved to second on Jimmy Wasdell's walk and scored on Letchas' single.

Tony Lupien opened the eighth with a single, was sacrificed to second and scored on Peacock's single.

U. S. BATTALION

mans delivered the ultimatum Wednesday.

"He (the German emissary) was an officer in shiny boots and very polite," said Kerley.

"He came up under a white flag and told me the battalion was surrounded and he would give us until 8 o'clock to quit, and if we didn't he would destroy us all."

Gesturing with one hand and digging into a can of field rations with the other, the thin, tough-looking American said, "I told him to go to hell."

Then Kerley told him the only terms under which the battalion would surrender, and even the wounded lifted their heads and yelled approval at the captain's defiance.

The men of this battalion had been up there since early Monday, and the best efforts to help them had delivered them by air only enough food for two meals, while field guns shot medicines in to them in the cases of smoke shells.

They got blood plasma bandages, sulpha powder and morphine, and all arrived safely except the morphine, which was too battered for use.

The men also managed to catch a few rabbits and chickens, and said some indomitable French civilians slipped up the hill at night and gave them fresh milk.

Captain Erickson said the Germans also sneaked close to the top of the hill each night, "but in the daytime they stayed back from us."

Exactly what it is ... a "fresh up"

ROAD TAX

parish could legally give the wards within the city limits assistance in maintaining the streets in both cities. Later it was determined by the legal representatives of the parish and cities that this could not be carried out at this time. The ruling was made by the attorney general's office as follows:

"'Regreat to advise that the police jury of Ouachita parish may not legally contribute to the improvement of streets of the cities of Monroe and West Monroe.'

"Mr. Rodriguez was present and personally agreed to suport the tax out now he is opposing same. As far as I know he is the only city official of Monroe and West Monroe opposing the tax.

"I want to assure the people of Monroe and West Monroe that the police jury of Ouachita parish will not permit the acts of Mr. Rodriguez to disturb the harmonious relations which have existed between the police jury and the two city governments for a long time. The police jury received last year $65,000 from the 1 1/2 mill road maintenance tax. They received $109,031.40 from the gas tax making a total of approximately $175,000. Of this amount $166,503.21 was spent on maintenance of roads and bridges, drainage and new roads. Very little machinery has been purchased in the past three years and when allowed to purchase machinery, considerable money will be needed for this purpose. I also understand that our road maintenance tax is much lower than in parishes of this size. These funds have been economically and judiciously expended."

"Sufficient funds with which to maintain the roads of Ouachita parish equally important to the business people of Monroe and West Monroe since these roads, as we all know, contribute in a very large measure to the business success of the two cities. The police jury of Ouachita parish has always enjoyed the fullest cooperation from the business men of Monroe and West Monroe. Personally, I have received many pledges of support for this tax from our people of both cities, and know of very little opposition to the tax in either Monroe or West Monroe.

"It is the desire and wish of the police jury that the legal situation be clarified in such a manner to make it possible for the police jury to give major assistance to the cities of Monroe and West Monroe in the matter of street maintenance."

In opposing the tax, W. D. H. Rodriguez, commissioner of streets and parks, stated that the levy is not needed and will be an additional burden on the already over-burdened taxpayers of the parish.

"Prior to 1938 we had a two-mill tax on all property in Ouachita parish for the maintenance of parish roads. The two-mill tax prior to 1938 produced a revenue of less than $90,000 a year and the roads were maintained thereby," Mr. Rodriguez said.

"In 1938 the legislature gave the police jury a one cent tax per gallon on all gasoline sold in Ouachita parish. This gasoline tax last year produced in round figures $120,000. The $1\frac{1}{2}$-mill road tax produced $68,000. The two taxes together total $188,000. This is more than double the amount that we used for road maintenance prior to 1938 and I submit that the gasoline tax alone is adequate for the maintenance of parish roads.

"Furthermore the police jury has surplus funds in excess of $200,000 on hand, which can be used for any lawful purpose; the construction or maintenance of roads or the purchase of equipment or any other necessary investment or expense.

"Since 1838 many miles of the parish road system have been taken over and put into the state road system and the police jury was thereby relieved of the expense of their future maintenance. All of Highway 80, all of Highway 165, the Winnsboro road, the White's Ferry road, the Farmerville road, the Jonesboro road, all are part of the state highway system and are not an expense to the road maintenance fund of Ouachita parish.

"I submit that all roads should be maintained by a tax on gasoline and not by a property tax. The cars and trucks and buses that use the roads should pay for the roads."

he anticipated no necessity for calling the military help made possible in the presidential order.

The directive insures payment to the drivers of the seven-cent-an-hour pay raise given them last February by the War Labor Board under government operation, a move the operators have said was impossible for them with present revenues. The order also directs that back pay due under the WLB ruling be made from net operating profits.

P. E. Field, Chicago, traffic consultant for the maritime commission, one of the first men to meet with Longenecker after he arrived by plane from Washington, warned that the truck tieup was threatening construction of 100 ships in three Midwestern yards.

Longenecker assured him that all essentials would receive immediate attention under a system of what he called "automatic priorities" already given war goods by the companies.

Field said two shipyards at Superior, Wis., and one at Milwaukee faced shutdowns in some departments unless needed parts were delivered soon.

upward revision in bomb requirements during the last few months, Brig. Gen. R. C. Coupland, air ordnance officer, said:

"We have met less fighter opposition than we originally expected, and our attacks on the German aircraft industry have been highly successful. Our losses have been lighter, and, owing to improved sighting devices, we have been able to bomb successfully under a wider range of weather conditions and hence have been able to go on more missions."

In the Pacific, he added, a "unique situation" developed with the rapid advances and resulting acquisition of additional air bases. This meant that more high explosive bombs were required in that theater.

In the Pacific theater there is also an immediate need for 50,000 tons of incendiary bombs—approximately 8,000,000 individual bombs.

PROPERTY BILL

arate legislation dealing with creation of an Office of Reconversion, unemployment compensation and surplus property disposal.

Chairman Colmer, Democrat, Mississippi, of the House postwar economic committee, said he believed the three-point program could be expedited by leaving in the George bill the provision setting up the reconversion machinery.

A postwar subcommittee headed by Representative Cooper, Democrat Tennessee, has agreed on a separate bill embodying the main principles of the Senate's reconversion proposal. By leaving both subjects in one bill, in the opinion of House leaders, a pre-election congressional adjournment starting around September 1 might be possible.

There was little controversy in sight on the surplus property bill, written by a committee headed by Representative Manasco, Democrat, Alabama, it provides for appointment of a surplus property director with broad authority to supervise the orderly disposition of government-held surplus that will be salable in the domestic markets. Similar legislation is studied by a Senate military committee.

There was little prospect that George bill backers would renew in the House their fight for liberal unemployment benefits for civilian workers thrown out of jobs after the war and for returning veterans. The coalition of Republicans and southern Democrats that defeated the K... bill in the Senate was confident it could hold its ground in the House.

The George bill leaves entirely in the hands of the states the standards for unemployment benefits, adds several million government workers to coverage and guarantees the solvency of state security systems. It does not boost existing state compensation levels averaging about $20 weekly.

It also sets up a bi-partisan congressional committee and a committee representing industry, labor, agriculture and the public to help determine questions of policy. The measure authorizes loans and grants to states and municipalities to finance job-providing public works.

OUACHITA LIONS REPORT FOR FOOTBALL DRILLS AUGUST 21

Successful Season Depends On Proper Spirit Of Squad, Says Riser

The Ouachita Parish High School Lions swing into their fall football practice grind here Monday week, August 21, in preparation for another tough campaign against Class AA and Class A opposition, according to an announcement Saturday by Coach George Riser.

Coach Riser made his announcement from Bryan, Tex., where he is currently conducting cotton dusting operations for the Delta Air Corporation.

O. P. H. S. will tackle an eight-game schedule evenly split between A and double A foes, but they will go into action against Bossier City on September 15 minus eleven lettermen and a number of good squadmen of last season.

While predicting a good season if his boys "put forth the proper amount of effort," Coach Riser declared the "challenge of a successful season is upon the line and as it goes so will go the hopes of Ouachita."

"Spring practice showed the boys could do a pretty good job if they were willing to put forth the proper amount of effort to get the job done," Riser said. "The boys showed spurts of good football, but they did not show enough consistency for this to mean much.

"They will be capable of giving most of the teams the Lions tackle plenty of trouble if they will buckle down to the job of playing hard football. The line is the part of the team that will have to stand most of the rough work if a good team is devoloped. The charging of the forward wall protects the backs both on offense and defense. The challenge of a successful season is upon the line and as it goes so will go the hopes of the Ouachita team.

"Aggressive guards, tackles, ends and centers will have to be developed in numbers so that the attack may be carried to the opponents. Poor blocking and tackling cost the Lions during the 1943 season, and most of the boys want to redeem themselves."

Lettermen missing will be Jerry Gregg, fine back of the last two seasons who ranks with Alvin Fleming, Jake Staples, Hoyt Moncrief, and Roland Brown as one of the best backs the Lions have been able to boast of, and John Humble, big center now at L. S. U.; Eugene Granberry, a tackle who also plans to enter L. S. U.; Metris Bell, now in the navy, and Bill Bailey, a tackle, who left school last year to accept a job. Guards Curtis Hall and Russell Lanningham are in the navy. Backs who will be missing besides Seaman Gregg are Kyle Wicks, Frank Cline, Clarence Warren, and LaFeze Dean.

Returning lettermen are Billy Hargiss, center; Tom Miller and James Hall, guards; Eugene Roswell, tackle; Marvin Moon, J. E. Tripp, and Thomas Moncrief, ends; and Miller Frey, G. W. Rachell, Maurice Rawls, Flem McMillan, Jack Brittain, and Perry Bedgood, backs. Several of these boys will be seen at new positions this fall. Moncrief, now slated for an end, was a back last year. Brittain, now listed as a back, was an end last season, and Bedgood is being converted from a guard into a back.

Coach Riser, who will again be aided by Coach Devon Payne, predicted the returning boys who feel they have the "inside track" on first string berths are going to be hard pressed for positions. The 1943 season's results do not warrant any position to a letterman, Riser stated, and every member of the squad will be expected to get himself ready to play plenty of every game as all will be given an opportunity to prove what he is capable of doing.

The season opens September 15 at Bossier City with Homer, Ruston and Jonesboro following on successive week-ends. The boys will rest a week before opening their Class AA conference campaign with Haynesville and Fair Park. They will experience another open date before taking on Byrd of Shreveport, and then they conclude their schedule with Bolton.

Because of the lack of lighting facilities here for night games, Coach Riser said several games originally slated for Monroe were being transferred to the backyard of their opponents. The Lions will perform before the home folks in only two games, appearing here against Homer and Haynesville.

LITTLE ROCK EDGES AUSTIN LEGION TEAM

NEW ORLEANS, La., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Pitcher Bill Marsh singled with the bases loaded in the last of the ninth to give Little Rock an 8 to 7 win over the Austin, Tex., Buddies in the semi-finals of the American Legion Regional Baseball Tournament here today. One man was out at the time.

The Arkansans were trailing 6-7 at the start of the final frame and tied the score on base hits by Jansen and Smith and an error by Third Baseman Chandler of Austin.

Little Rock will meet the New Orleans Comiskeys in the championship round tomorrow and needs two wins to win the crown.

The Arkansas Champs trailed 4-5 going into the seventh and got a run ahead on Jansen's double and successive singles by Oberle, Coleman and Smith.

Austin came back in the eighth to take the lead again with a walk, single and double producing 2 runs.

Warren Collins and Charlie Gorin held Little Rock hitless for five innings, but gave up 2 runs on walks and errors. Bailey Daugherty pitched the last three innings and was the losing pitcher.

Marsh relieved Udo Johnson Little Rock's starting pitcher and gave up six hits and struck out six.

Score by innings:

Austin	311 000 020—7	9	5
Little Rock	200 002 202—8	9	2

OLSEN TO MEET PARKER ON MAT

Two Top-Ranking Light Heavies Tangle In Main Event Thursday

Al (Tuffy) Olsen, the tattooed man from Kansas City, and Allen (Sailor) Parker, master showman of the ring and a leading contender for the light heavyweight belt held by Jack Steele, meet in the main event on Promoter Gus Kallio's weekly mat program here Thursday night.

Olsen, a former sailor like Parker, has been absent from the local arena since last spring, and Parker will be returning for the first time since he missed a shot at Steele's belt in a championship brawl here last month.

Gradually winning his way to the hearts of Promoter Kallio's customers after several seasons of hearing their protestations of his villainy, Parker will no doubt enter the ring Thursday as the choice of the fans against the rough-and-tumble artist from Kansas City. Olsen has never been popular with the fans despite the fact that he is one of the best light-heavy wrestlers in the business, so Parker can expect to hear plenty cheers win or lose.

The match promises to be the best show Promoter Kallio has arranged since his Steele-Parker championship brawl that pulled down a crowd of almost 2,000 for the biggest crowd in the five years he had been promoting here. While he doesn't expect as big a crowd to turn out this week, Kallio is looking for a turnout at his Walnut street arena that will surpass attendance at matches since the title scrap.

Kallio's semi-final attraction will pit Pat Conley, New Orleans, against George Bennett, meanie from Long Beach, Calif.

Conley, who refereed matches for some time here last year and until the early spring, turned wrestler shortly after stopping the job of officiating as such brawl and has been quite successful so far. He gave a good account of himself in two matches here last spring and experience gained since then is expected to provide Bennett with surprises Thursday.

The main event will be a 90-minute time limit battle, two falls to win. The semi-final will have an hour time limit, also two falls to win.

SEGURA, TALBERT TO TENNIS FINALS

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Blasting his opopnent of the court in less than 40 minutes, top-seeded Francisco Segura of Ecuador swept through the semi-final round of the Eastern Grass Court Tennis Championships at Westchester Country Club today to gain a finals berth with Bill Talbert of Indianapolis. Segura's luckless foe was red-haired Jack McManis, of New York, the New York and New Jersey State Grass Court Champion, who went down before the South American's two-handed drives, 6-1, 6-3, 6-0. Talbert and Segura will battle for the title at 3 p. m. tomorrow.

In the women's singles, the final round was assured of being an all-California affair, when National Champion Pauline Betz of Los Angeles and No. 2 ranking Louise Brough of Los Angeles and Doris Hart of Miami. Miss Betz outfought Miss Arnold 6-2, 0-6, 6-0, while Miss Brough polished off Miss Hart, the nation's No. 4 player, 7-5, 6-2. The defeated Arnold girl yesterday had gained the semi-finals by upsetting the defending tourney champion, Margaret Osborne of San Francisco.

Miss Betz and Miss Hart, playing together in the women's doubles, entered tomorrow's final round with a 7-5, 7-5 victory over Miss Arnold and Dorothy May Bundy, Winter Park, Fla. The last round foes will be Miss Osborne and Biss Brough, who won their semi-final match, 7-5, 6-1, from Miss Virginia W. Kovacs, Oakland, Calif., and Mrs. Helen Pedersen Rihbany, New York.

ROSE NONCOMMITTAL ON RAZORBACKS' PROSPECTS

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark.—(AP)—Those 1944 University of Arkansas Razorbacks, who look on paper like just about the hottest edition turned out of these Ozark hills in several seasons, will have no trouble living up to the advance billing of their new coach, silent Glen Rose.

To newsmen and alumni inqiring about this fall's football prospects, Rose has a ready answer:

"Come out and watch them practice and draw your own conclusions."

So far, of course, there has been no regular practice but when it does get underway August 21 there will be 10 lettermen and three squadmen, all 4-Fs, and some crack young high school stars.

Returning lettermen will be headed by Leon Pense, all Southwest Conference guard who occasionally slips into the backfield to fire some accurate aerials.

Arkansas faces a tough 10-game schedule opening with University of Missouri, September 23 at St. Louis.

ARCADIA HIGH SEEKING COACH FOR GRID TEAM

ARCADIA, La., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Arcadia High School is all set for the fall opening of school, except for a football coach, according to Principal E. R. Hester who said prospects for a good team were favorable if only a mentor could be found.

"We have excellent material for a winning team this year if we can just get someone to coach it," Hester declared.

Hester said any person able to coach boys would be considered for the job but that he would also be required to join the school faculty as instructor in mathematics. He further declared "the pay is good" and requested the prospective coaches communicate with him as soon as possible.

The Hornets have always been in the spotlight in state football circles, campaigning in Class B circles and winning several championships.

FINALLY WINS

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—After riding 49 straight losers at Garden State and Belmont Park, Jockey Jackie Westrope won yesterday with Darby Divot, $17.00, in the second race at Belmont.

MOITY, IN STATE PRISON, ESCAPES

Man Convicted Of Killing Two Women Goes To Baton Rouge

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 12.—(AP)—Henry Moity, New Orleans life termer trusty at the state penal farm at St. Gabriel, near here, escaped from the farm yesterday morning, caught a ride to Baton Rouge and then disappeared, Penitentiary General Manager W. T. Mitchiner announced today.

Moity had been serving a life sentence since July 6, 1928, for the trunk murder of his wife and sister-in-law in New Orleans and since March 28, 1933, had been a trusty.

Mitchiner said that at the time of his escape, Moity was yard man at the St. Gabriel farm and that one of his morning chores was to go to the post office a quarter-mile away.

Yesterday morning he started to the post office, hailed a man in an automobile and rode with him to Baton Rouge, where he was seen about 1 p. m., wearing a grey coat, khaki pants and a floppy straw hat and was carrying a brown suit case which he had apparently obtained here. He was described as being 45 years old, five feet five inches tall, weighing about 140 pounds and having a dark complexion, heavy beard and heavy head of hair.

Under the Louisiana double-good-time law approximately three-fourths of the life termers are released at the end of 10 years and six months, Mitchiner said, but that in 1941 Gov. Sam Jones declined to approve the recommendations of the state board of pardons for Moity's release and he has been kept in prison, where, he said, Moity had a perfect record.

RELEASE RECOMMENDED BY STATE PARDON BOARD

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Henry Moity, St. Gabriel penitentiary trusty whose escape yesterday was announced today by prison officials, was convicted in 1928 of the murder of his wife and sister-in-law.

The two women were slain with a cane knife and their dismembered bodies were hidden in a trunk at their home here. Moity, in admitting his guilt at the time of his widely publicized trial, said his wife and sister-in-law had been "running around with men," leaving him at home to care for the children.

One of the highlights of the case 16 years ago was Moity's first account of the slaying in which he told officers the women were murdered by a "red-headed seaman named Erickson," and that after the slaying he (Moity) had been forced by the murderer to wash bloodstains from the walls and floors.

A jury found Moity guilty of murder "without capital punishment" on one count and he pleaded guilty on a second.

In 1941 Gov. Sam Jones disapproved an application for commutation which would have released Moity from prison, saying:

"This case is so glaring, I don't think that in good conscience I can approve this commutation."

Moity's release had been recommended by the state pardon board following an appeal by his father, Leon Moity; a sister, Mrs. Louis Girod, and the slayer's two daughters.

At that time Warden D. D. Bazer said Moity's behavior as a prisoner "was beyond reproach."

KILLING SNAKES OLD WAY IS BEST

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The old ways are the best ways for killing snakes, the government advised today, brushing off frog-baited snares and mustard gas as just passing fads.

A new bulletin on reptile eradication concedes that success sometimes attends other methods, such as poking a helping of poison down a snake burrow with "a long-handled spoon."

Day in and day out, however, the experts of the government's fish and wildlife service prefer a good stout club or a reliable firearm for dispatching undesirable snakes.

It should be pointed out that a snake has to be downright ornery to get on the fish and wildlife service blacklist. The bulletin says some pretty nice things about garter-snakes, which belie their name by eating mice and grasshoppers; the bull snake, which is rough on rats, and the little red-bellied storeria occipitomaculata, which dotes on garden slugs. Even the deadly rattlesnake relishes prairie dogs, the bulletin notes.

Nevertheless, the service takes the uncompromising stand that "poisonous snakes have no place in a settled country, no matter how beneficial their food habits."

"So far as is known," the service said, warming to the subject, "only one method of eradicating is generally successful, and that is to kill them by clubbing or shooting."

Not that other systems haven't been given a fair shake. Tear gas, phosgene gas and chlorine were injected into a cave full of snakes near San Marcos, Texas, and the slithery cave-dwellers had a hearty laugh at the scientists. However, the bulletin reports that when mustard gas was pumped into lava crevices in Washington state, "the snakes were driven out in a dazed condition."

LONG DAYS IN ALASKA

At Ketchikan, Alaska, the longest period of daylight is a little more than 17 hours, but at Barrow, Alaska, there is continuous daylight for 81 days.

AVERAGE COTTON PRICE

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 12.—(AP)—The average price for 15/16 inch cotton at ten designated southern spot markets today was 5 cents a bale lower at 21.41 cents a pound. Average for the past 30 market days was 21.50. Middling 7/8 inch average was 20.26.

New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Earlier gains of 50 cents a bale were pared in the cotton market today as the rapid rise in prices yesterday and in earlier trading attracted increasing profit taking.

There was also some selling on the disappointing July cotton consumption estimate by the New York Cotton Exchange Service.

Futures closed unchanged to 15 cents a bale lower.

POLICE PROBLEMS GREATLY SIMILAR

American And German M. P.'s Find Troubles About Same

WITH AMERICAN TROOPS IN FRANCE, July 31.—(Delayed)—(AP)—Two military police talked over police problems today—and found them pretty much the same in any army.

One was a tall, blond lieutenant in a blue uniform who stood behind barbed wire.

The other guarded him—Pvt. Carl Willmy, who used to teach music and physical education at the Patchogue, N. Y., High School.

Willmy, who speaks German fluently, struck up a conversation with the lieutenant, leader of six German M. P.s who surrendered after the traffic over which they had no control—American tank columns—surrounded them. The lieutenant was lonely and anxious to talk.

"We have much trouble with speeders in our army," said the lieutenant. "They all think they're driving Messerschmitts instead of Volkswagons."

"It's the truth," replied Willmy. "I know just what you mean. What do you do with them?"

"You mean the first time we catch them?"

"Yes."

"Bawl the devil out of them. What do you do?"

"We do, too. But I don't say it does much good. What do you do if they violate the speed limit again?"

"Each time is different. If we catch them the second time going faster than 60 kilometers (37 1/2 miles) an hour, we put the driver in solitary confinement for three days and he gets only one hot meal during that time."

"What if that doesn't work and you catch him burning up the highway again and again?"

"If he does it several times he is no longer a driver. He's an infantryman, straightway," said the German, shrugging, "and he gets put into the front lines. What do you do?"

"We do that too," said Willmy, grinning. "We put him on his feet again and give him something to carry. What is your other biggest problem?"

"Making drivers keep proper intervals in convoys. We don't let them pass on the roads, but it is difficult to make them stay the proper distance apart. But recently we've had much movement and they jam traffic. That is bad."

"I see what you mean," said Willmy, looking at an American fighter plane sweeping across the sky. The German said nothing.

"Have you much trouble with the soldiers taking a drop too much now and then?" asked Willmy.

"No. Considering the amount of cider and wine there is about we have little trouble from drinking. And you?"

"H'mmmmm," said Willmy, changing to another subject. "Do you have many A. W. O. L.'s?"

"Not many. I know of only one case."

"How do you punish A. W. O. L.'s?"

"It depends on the individual case and the man's record," said the lieutenant. "But if we are retreating and the soldier is given orders to hold the line at any cost and later shows up and tries rejoining the unit, he is taken aside immediately and shot—he is shot real hard."

WOUNDED

Sgt. Edward E. Pace, above, has been seriously wounded in France, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Pace, 210 Claiborne street, West Monroe. Sergeant Pace was wounded August 2. He was with the first troops in the invasion of France. Pace has been in the army seven years, and spent three years in Panama. He is a graduate of Ouachita Parish High School and well known here.

GUERRILLA WARFARE BEGUN IN GERMANY

MADRID, Aug. 12.—(AP)—Escaped prisoners of war and foreign laborers have begun guerrilla warfare inside Germany, the German press revealed today in a dispatch from Nazi Correspondent Werner Gilles who wrote from "in the mountains of southern Germany."

The correspondent said "terrorists and guerrillas" were waging a war of destruction on Germans in the mountain regions, wiping out entire families, burning homes, and stealing food and arms.

He described an expedition against the guerrillas which led far above snowline, and said heavily-armed German police finally isolated one group of escaped Russian prisoners and foreign laborers who fought to the last.

"It was astonishing that they were able to withstand the intense cold in their thin clothes for hours and days," the correspondent wrote.

Another dispatch from Austria said policemen who sought storm shelter in a mountain hut were overpowered by "terrorists" and only one policeman escaped.

Adolf Hitler's own newspaper, Voelkischer Beobachter, reported guerrillas killed four Germans in one village, and commented:

"Even in the smallest village everything must be prepared for defense against air raids, marauding foreign workers and armed prisoners of war who have escaped."

DIRECTORS HEAR VARIOUS REPORTS

Keene And Brice Named To Board Of Chamber Of Commerce Here

Reports were heard from the various chamber committees and two new board members were appointed Friday noon at the monthly luncheon-meeting of the Chamber of Commerce board of directors held in the Virginia Hotel.

Members of the aviation committee were granted permission to attend the Louisiana Aviation Conference to be held in Baton Rouge August 15-16.

Authorization was also given to George D. Holland, secretary, to prepare a brief on Ouachita parish to be presented at a public hearing which will be held in Monroe in September by Col. T. L. Sauer, district army engineer from Vicksburg, ton consider the channel straightening and flood control improvements of Bayou Lafourche and Boeuf river from Point Jefferson in Morehouse parish, southward to the meeting of these waters with the Ouachita river.

L. P. Landry, chairman of the highway committee, reported that Arkansas state highway number 13, from Hamburg, Ark., south to the Louisiana line, had been included in the Arkansas' post-war highway construction program. He also stated that the Louisiana highway department had agreed to meet this project with a hard-surfaced road north of Bastrop, thus closing the unimproved part of that highway between Bastrop and Hamburg.

Secretary Holland was authorized by the board to accompany Mayor H. H. Benoit to Washington, D. C., where they will file additional data in the Chamber of Commerce brief filed with the veterans' administration in February, 1942. They will also have an interview with Gen. Frank T. Hines, chief of the veterans' administration, regarding the establishing of a veterans' hospital in Ouachita parish. C. H. Hunt, of the local V. F. W. chapter, will go with Mayor Benoit and Mr. Holland.

It was reported to the board that the freezer-locker plant planned by the Louisiana Ice Service Company has been delayed because priorities for materials could not be secured. However, it was added, these materials may be obtainable either late this year or early in 1945.

The post-war surveys sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce will be concluded in about two weeks, Mr. Holland told board members. A recapitulation of the data secured will be made by the bureau of business research at L. S. U. and will be ready for publication sometime in October, he stated.

The board authorized the setting up of a market and industrial research department in the chamber, and an expert in these matters will be hired within 30 days.

J. W. Keene and R. C. Brice were elected to membership on the board to fill the unexpired terms of W. R. Younger and G. L. Morgan, both of whom have resigned. These terms will run for the remainder of 1944 and through 1946.

CHOUDRANT SOLDIER GETS MERIT AWARD

William L. Sanderson, of Choudrant, has been awarded the Legion of Merit for "exceptionally meritorious conduct in the performance of outstanding services in Italy from November 19, 1943, to May 19, 1944," according to a letter received from him recently by his family.

Sanderson is a technician fourth grade and as a radio repairman, the citation states, "performed his duties in a most superior manner with the result that the battalion always had at its disposal excellent radio communications despite the adverse climatic conditions and the necessarily rough treatment accorded the radio sets."

The citation also states that "he went out of his way on hazardous and difficult missions to insure the proper performance of this radio equipment and turned his mechanical skill and flair improvisation to the devising of many field expedients."

Technician Sanderson also has been awarded the Purple Heart.

COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY

MONROE, LA. PHONE 184

To The Property Owners Of Monroe, West Monroe and Ouachita Parish:

The Police Jury of Ouachita Parish has ordered an election to be held on Tuesday, August 15th and is asking the property owners to vote a 1½-mill road tax. The purpose of this statement is to show that there is no need whatever for this tax and that other sources of revenue are amply sufficient for the maintenance of the parish roads in Ouachita Parish.

Prior to 1938 we had a two-mill road tax on all property in Ouachita Parish for the maintenance of parish roads. The two-mill tax prior to 1938 produced a revenue of less than $90,000.00 a year and the roads were maintained thereby.

In 1938 the Legislature gave the Police Jury a 1c tax per gallon on all gasoline sold in Ouachita Parish. This gasoline tax last year produced in round figures $120,000.00. The 1½-mill road tax last year produced $68,000.00. The two taxes together total $188,000.00. This is more than double the amount that we used for road maintenance prior to 1938 and I submit that the gasoline tax alone is adequate for the maintenance of parish roads.

Furthermore the Police Jury has surplus funds in excess of $200,000.00 on hand, which can be used for any lawful purpose; the construction or maintenance of roads or the purchase of equipment or any other necessary investment or expense.

Since 1938 many miles of the parish road system have been taken over and put into the State road system and the Police Jury was thereby relieved of the expense of their further maintenance. All of Highway 80; all of Highway 165; the Winnsboro Road; the White's Ferry Road; the Farmerville Road; the Jonesboro Road; all are part of the State highway system and are not an expense to the road maintenance fund of Ouachita Parish.

I submit that all roads should be maintained by a tax on gasoline and not by a property tax. The cars and trucks and buses that use the roads should pay for the roads and I again state that the present 1c gasoline tax is adequate for all road maintenance by the Police Jury of Ouachita Parish.

In stating my opposition to the 1½-mill special road tax I wish to make it clear that no personalities and no factional politics are involved. The individual members of the Police Jury are my friends. Some of them very close friends of long standing and I do not wish to cast any reflection on them as individuals. I simply think that the tax is unnecessary.

I urge that the property owners of Ouachita Parish go to the polls Tuesday, August 15th, and vote against the imposition of this unnecessary special tax.

Respectfully yours,

W. D. H. Rodriguez

Miss Martha Woolman Weds Wallace Taylor

Former Monroe Girl Becomes Bride Of Connecticut Man In Ceremony At Atlanta

In a beautiful, candle-lit ceremony Saturday evening, August 12 at six o'clock, Miss Martha Ann Woolman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Woolman of Atlanta, Ga., formerly of Monroe, became the bride of Mr. Wallace William Taylor Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wallace William Taylor Sr., of Winsted, Conn.

The wedding was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents, with Rev. Albert K. Mathews, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church, in an impressive double-ring service.

Floral decorations of green and white banked the living room, with oriental rugs making a glowing pathway to the altar in the sun room alcove, which was draped in white and set with candles and a cross. The kneeling bench was banked with flowers.

The bride's attendants were her sister, Miss Barbara Woolman, and the groom's sister, Miss Virginia Taylor, who wore bouffant white marquisette and Juliet caps. They carried arm bouquets of spring flowers.

The groom's father served him as best man.

The bride, lovely in a white satin gown with net applique, wore a finger tip veil, and carried a bouquet of white orchids. For "something old," she used her great-grandmother's rosepoint handkerchief which had been carried by three other brides in the family. For "something new," she wore the gift from the groom, a beautiful pearl necklace.

Traditional music was played by Miss Margie Griffith, harpist, throughout the ceremony and during the reception which followed immediately after the service at the Woolman home.

Mrs. Woolman was wearing a flowered chiffon gown and Mrs. Taylor was in pale blue sheer. Assisting in extending courtesies at the reception were Misses Juanita Lippmin, formerly of Monroe, Hazel Holcombe and Charlotte Gohlson.

For a going away dress, the bride wore a dressmaker suit of polka dot dusty crepe with black accessories and a corsage of orchids. After a brief wedding trip, the couple will reside at the Woolman home, 2665 Northside drive, until Mr. Taylor completes his army training at Lawson General Hospital.

Out-of-town guests, besides the groom's family, were Lt. Col. and Mrs. Leigh Parker of Washington, D. C., Mrs. Mabel Sinclair Lippman and Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Touchstone of Monroe, and Miss Charlotte Gohlson of Silver City, Miss., who was the bride's roommate at Stevens College and at the University of Alabama.

Miss Eleanor Corry And Wilbert Larson Marry

Marriage Of Rayville Girl To Moline, Ill., Man Solemnized At Shawnee, Okla.

Dr. and Mrs. Henry Pelham Corry of Rayville, La., announce the marriage of their daughter, Eleanor Baughman Corry, to Mr. Wilbert Sandford Larson Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Sandford Larson of Moline, Ill. The marriage was celebrated July 29, at 8 o'clock in the evening in the parsonage of the Wesley Methodist Church at Shawnee, Okla., with the Rev. A. W. Coleman officiating.

The living room of the parsonage, lovely with soft lights and colorful flowers, was the scene of the marriage, characterized by simplicity and quiet dignity. The impressive ring ceremony was performed in front of large attractive-draped windows, decorated at either end with tall baskets filled with pink gladioli and bright asters.

The bride wore an attractive white crepe ensemble with white accessories. Her hat, an original model, was fashioned of flowers of lovely aqua hue, and her corsage was of orchids. For something old, the bride carried a real lace handkerchief made in Havana, which her grandmother had owned for 57 years and which has been used by all the brides in the family since that time, including the mother of the bride.

The bride's sister and only attendent, Miss Barbara Nan Corry, was attired in a becoming frock of white cotton embellished with cut work over net. She wore a small flower hat of violet hues, which blended with her corsage and gloves. The groom had for his best man Mr. William McConnell of Shawnee, Okla.

The bridal party was entertained at a wedding dinner at the Aldridge Hotel. Immediately following, the young couple, left for a short honeymoon in Oklahoma City.

The bride is the second daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Henry Pelham Corry. She was born and reared in Rayville.

After graduating from high school, she attended Louisiana Polytechnic Institute, Ruston, where she was a member of Kappa Delta sorority. Later, Miss Corry went to Monroe Commercial School, Monroe. For the past three years she has lived in New Orleans. She worked for a time for the Horace Williams Construction Company at Algiers, and for the past two years has held a responsible civil service position with the United States navy.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Sandford Larson of Moline. After finishing high school, where he was a star football player, he went to Augustana College, Rock Island, Ill., where he received the bachelor's degree. Then he entered Iowa State University, Iowa City, Iowa, where he completed work for the master's degree. He was a graduate instructor in geology at the University of Iowa. Later he accepted a responsible position as geologist for the Texas Oil Company at New Orleans, La. Recently he was transferred to Shawnee, Okla.

Mr. Larson has successfully passed his entrance examination for the armed forces and is awaiting his call. He belongs to Phi Omega fraternity and is a member of the American Association of Petroleum Geology. Mr. and Mrs. Larson are now in Oklahoma. Within the next few weeks, they will visit their respective families in Illinois and Louisiana.

Miss Jane Haynes And Lt. Lewis Collins Wed

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Jane Haynes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Haynes of this city and Lt. Lewis V. Collins, United States army air force, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Collins of New Castle, Pa. The wedding was quietly solemnized Aug. 5 in the home of Rev. and Mrs. L. T. Hastings with Rev. Hastings officiating.

The bride wore a blue fall suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

Those attending the ceremony were Miss Verlon Haynes, sister of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Haynes and Lieutenant Arverson.

Before her marriage Mrs. Collins was employed at Selman Field where Lt. Collins is stationed as an instructor. The couple will reside with the bride's family on North Fourth street.

Mrs. Robert Holloway and little daughter, Susan, from Baton Rouge, are visiting Mrs. Holloway's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alden Shotwell and Mrs. A. R. Holloway. They will be joined later in the week by Mr. Holloway.

Mr. Leonard Honoree At Many Parties Here

Popular Director Of Local USO Club Will Leave For New Duties At Jackson

Friends in both civilian and military life are expressing deep regret over the departure of Mr. John M. Leonard, local director of the Monroe USO, who will leave August 15 to assume the duties of a position with the United States Veterans Administration. He will report to the Jackson, Miss., office.

Mr. Leonard has been director of the local USO club for more than a year, having been appointed to this post July, 1943 by John A. Zimmermann, regional director of the National Catholic Community Service. Under his guidance the local organization maintained the high standard of efficient service and effective programs inaugurated in this club at its inception. Many improvements were made in the way of renovations, increased working staff, varied programs, and enlarged personal service under Mr. Leonard.

His helpfulness to everyone in need has won for him an enviable reputation for service throughout the area. Mr. Leonard himself regrets leaving Monroe and USO work. Circumstances, however, have arisen from his former association with the Veterans' Administration which make it almost imperative that he accept the splendid position offered him.

Many courtesies are being extended Mr. Leonard before his departure. One of the outstanding affairs planned in his honor was a luncheon given Saturday, Aug. 5 by the National Community Service committee which has worked in close cooperation with him throughout the past year in various USO projects. Mrs. M. E. Bell is chairman of this committee and Mrs. A. Petrus is secretary. Along with Mr. Leonard as special guests were Father Lambert F. Meder, OFM, Catholic chaplain of Selman Field, who has received notice of his transfer to Foster Field, Tex., and Father Maurice A. Mullan, new Catholic chaplain of the field. Others of the local clergy who attended the luncheon were the Rt. Rev. N. F. Vandegaer, pastor of St. Matthew's Catholic Church; Rev. Henry Freiburg, OFM, pastor of St. Paschal's Church, West Monroe; and Rev. Manfreid Joachim, OFM, chaplain of St. Francis Sanitarium.

Additional guests were: Mrs. Helen B. Wasson, assistant director of NCCS, Mr. Sam Collins, USO director representing the National Jewish Welfare Board, and members of the NCCS committee, Mrs. Ben Breard, Mrs. D. E. Bivens Jr., Mrs. N. E. Bell, Miss Rose Danna, Mrs. J. J. Devereaux, Mrs. M. C. Delarot, Mrs. Fred Hill, Mrs. B. W. Morrison, Mrs. Charles Reid, Mrs. W. E. Reardon, Mrs. W. E. Zinsmeister, Mr. R. M. Breard, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Burkett, Mrs. A. Petrus, Mrs. R. M. LeMoine, Mr. C. P. Brogan, Mrs. Vincent Marsala, Mrs. Hollis, and Mrs. S. F. Gremillion.

Initialed leather brief cases were presented to Mr. Leonard and to Father Meder. Other courtesies have been planned for Mr. Leonard, including a boat ride Wednesday night arranged by the Ouachita parish USO council of which Mr. Murray Hudson is chairman.

Welcome Garden Club Holds Monthly Meeting

Members of the Welcome Garden Club held their regular monthly meeting in the attractive home of Mrs. W. D. Clark, Monday afternoon, Aug. 7, with Mrs. D. F. Dennis and Mrs. W. L. Mitchell as co-hostesses. Mrs. John Harper, president, presided. After a short business session, Mrs. H. V. Collins, program chairman, presented a very interesting and instructive program.

Mrs. G. W. Welch gave important points on blue garden flowers and listed some of the most common varieties adaptable to our garden soils. The use of blue flowers in the garden was stressed because of their comparative rareness among cultivated plants and their unusual tones which balance color effects so well. Blue flowers also are the favorite of the honey bees, aside from being an open invitation to bees, harmonize with all delicate tints, and gardens are indeed improved with a few or several species of blue flowers. Mrs. Charles Swain gave a timely talk on fine bulbs for fall planting. She encouraged everyone to plant early and plenty of strong healthy bulbs. Bulbs for planting at this season were listed. The careful selection, cultivation and correct way of planting were stressed. Lovely specimen of bulbs now blooming were demonstrated in attractive arrangements.

Interesting floral displays were placed throughout the reception suite, and Mrs. W. D. Clark gave some very helpful suggestions on flower arrangements, with special emphasis on types of flowers and containers and the surroundings in which the arrangement is to be placed. A delightful social hour was enjoyed by the following members: Mesdames Jack Bagwell, H. V. Collins, Julius Chandler, Henson Coon, H. E. Downing, V. S. Garnett, John Harper, Carey Holmes, C. T. Johnson, J. P. Lewis, W. L. Mitchell, E. B. Johnson, D. L. Nicol, Charles Swain, A. S. Tidwell, G. W. Welch, J. W. Womack and the hostesses. Two guests, Mrs. Leon Fife and Mrs. C. H. Tait.

Miss Beulah Trichel Marries R. L. Kennady

Announcement is made of the marriage of Miss Beulah Trichel of this city to S. F. 2/C R. L. Kennady of Berkeley, Calif. The ceremony was performed July 14, in the North Baptist Church, Orange, Tex., with The Rev. A. D. Kennady officiating.

The bride was attended by Miss Ben Etta Sawyer of Orange, who wore a brown suit with a small hat of harmonizing shade.

Cook 2/C Charles Demaries served the groom as best man.

The bride was attired in a light gray model with which she wore a chic white hat.

Mrs. Kennady presently is with her grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Dilday of Lamkin, La. She plans soon to join her husband who is stationed at Galveston, Texas.

Miss Lorraine Gale, Capt. Adams Married

Interest is centered in the announcement of the marriage of Miss Lorraine Gale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Gale of Boston, Mass., and Capt. Magruder Adams Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Magruder Adams of "Locust Ridge" plantation, St. Joseph La. The wedding was quietly solemnized August 3 in the chapel at Keesler Field, Biloxi, Miss., at 6 o'clock in the evening with the post chaplain, Rev. August Kneipt, officiating in the double-ring ceremony, during which beautiful nuptial music was played.

Mrs. Philip Marcus, sister of the bride who served as her only attendant, wore a striking violet ensemble with black accessories. The groom's father served as his best man.

The bride was beautiful in a lovely apple green ensemble with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of white gladiola.

Following the ceremony, Captain and Mrs. Adams were honorees at a dinner party given by Capt. and Mrs. Philip Marcus at their home in Biloxi.

The reception suite was decorated with attractive arrangements of pink zephyranthes and fern.

In the dining room the table, which was overlaid with a handsome embroidered cloth, had as a central decor a low crystal bowl of pink zephyranthes and fern. Covers were laid for eight and a four-course dinner was served. Later in the evening an informal reception was held. Punch and confections were served from the bride's table, covered with a lace cloth. The wedding cake, decorated with bride and groom figurines, formed the effective centerpiece.

Captain and Mrs. Adams are spending their honeymoon with the groom's parents at "Locust Ridge." Later they will go by plane to Lowry Field, Denver, Colo., where Captain Adams has been assigned to duty.

Those attending the wedding besides the groom's parents and the bridal party, were Capt. Philip Marcus, Lt. Com. J. Briscoe Goldman and Mrs. Golman of Bay St. Louis, Miss., and a few intimate friends.

Lt. Reginald E. Jones is enjoying a 15-day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Jones Sr., in Splane addition, West Monroe. His mother was privileged to attend the graduation of her son's class at Moore Field, Mission, Texas, where Lieutenant Jones received his commission as a second lieutenant in the United States army air corps.

Mrs. Allbritton Back After Chicago Studies

Mrs. Florence Ziegler Allbritton, recognized throughout the state as an accomplished pianist and teacher, has returned from a summer of study in Chicago where she has been working toward the master of music degree.

At Chicago Musical College she was privileged to study piano under Rudolph Ganz, famous Swiss composer-conductor-pianist. Mr. Ganz is widely known through his special radio arrangements as conductor and pianist over NBC and Columbia networks and through personal appearances in these roles.

Mrs. Allbritton also pursued special courses under Dr. Hans Rosenwald, internationally known musicologist, whose investigations are contributing greatly to rising standards in the musical realm and to the "unearthing" of hitherto undiscovered compositions of fine merit.

Added pleasure was derived from opportunities to attend splendid musical entertainments, including symphony concerts in Grant Park with the opening week's program being conducted by Mr. Ganz. Famous soloists with the symphony were the Metropolitan Opera stars, Licia Albanese, Hertha Glaz, Rose Bampton, Igor Gorin and Ann Brown, star of Gershwin's "Porgy and Bess," and Reinholdt, soloist of radio's Carnation hour.

A beautifully appointed luncheon at an exclusive hotel, with Mr. and Mrs. Ganz as hosts to a small group of friends, served as a happy climax to an interesting and eventful period of study.

Students At Havana U. Write Of Experiences

Miss Breard And Miss Frellsen Tell Of Interesting, Exciting Life In Cuba

Summer in Cuba is being filled with interesting and delightful experiences for Miss Mary Edith Breard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dan Armand Breard of Louisville avenue, and her cousin, Miss Alice Frellsen of Baskin, La. As students at the University of Havana, the two are having the rare pleasure of combining study with sightseeing tours and social functions.

"Life is always interesting and exciting here," Mary Edith writes from the university, where she is attending classes in practical Spanish which is conversation, reading, "writing and learning what isn't taught in classes at home." The professor who is from Spain teaches Castilian Spanish which is very different from the language of the Latin Americas, about as different as the American English is from the British, she adds. She describes the average day in this way:

"School begins at nine o'clock and ends at noon when professors, students, and all Havana settle down quietly for the noon day siesta. After lunch, which is a delightful meal, I go to the club where there is swimming, sunbathing, tennis, cards, sailing or rowing with many charming Cuban girls who are my fellow students.

"You should see Havana. It is so lovely with its huge wide boulevards, tall statues, gleaming white buildings made of marble and cement. The houses have no screens, but there are few insects and no mosquitoes. The artistic windows are all grill work with latticed shutters. Ceilings are very high and all of the floors are of colorful tile.

"Outside the city a range of mountains, once volcanoes, start suddenly and go the length of the island. There is an interesting story told about a lost Indian tribe that is thought to be hiding in the far away hills.

"Everywhere one sees beautiful scenery, farms of pineapple, oranges, sugar cane, quite a bit of corn, and tobacco which is a very important crop here.

"Cabanas bay is the most gorgeous spot I've ever seen. From a house high on a hill you look across the bay to the ocean. Feathery palms and tiny thatched roofed houses make a story book picture. The sunset is the most beautiful thing imaginable with every pastel shade in the world changing all the time.

"Transportation here in Havana is a real problem for Americans. There are many buses and trolleys but they run them all together differently from the way we do. If you want a bus you have to step out in the street and wave an arm at it, instead of stopping for passengers the driver merely slows down and the would-be rider takes a flying leap and jumps for the door. In case you don't make the front door—I seldom do—you have a chance for the rear door. Catching the bus is really an art. When you near your destination you begin hissing at the conductor, who in turn begins jingling a little bell at the driver who slows the contraption down. Then you make another leap and land somewhere.

"Many refugees are living in Cuba until the war is over. The picturesque verandas are occupied by groups of women, many very old ladies, who are just sitting rocking, waiting until they can go back home again. One of the refugees, 14-year-old Dutch Nanetta Kessner has become a special friend. Nanetta is a very charming and interesting young lady speaking six languages fluently. She is most inquisitive about American girls whom she admires greatly. She seems to be a little disappointed about our relations with American celebrities. It seems that she thought we should know the movie stars personally and that we all lived in New York City."

Cpl. Milton Childers Entertained At Party

Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Childers entertained with a lawn party at their home in honor of their son, Cpl. Milton Childers, who recently returned from one and one-half years of duty in New Guinea. Sharing honors with him was Cpl. Fred Hayton Jr., United States air corps.

The spacious lawn decorated in patriotic colors, was the scene of much merriment, including games directed by Miss Mary Ruth White.

Ice cream and cake were served to the following: Misses Ann Jones, Mary Ruth White, Elsie Coon, Flora Lee Wilson, Murline Childers, Frances McLelland, Dorothy Jones, Marjorie McCarty, Geraldine Jones, Elsie Frost, Frances Lolley, Bonnie Adams, Marjorie Wood, Winnie Smith, Cpl. Milton Childers, Cpl. Fred Jayton Jr.; Messrs. Kenneth Adams, Merlon Williams, Charles Holstead, Courtney Childers, F. A. Brown, Mrs. Dorothy Patterson, Mrs. J. B. Simmons, Mrs. Doris Turnbough, The Rev. A. T. Mitchell, Mr. and Mrs. Bennie Andrews, Bennie Andrews Jr., The Rev. and Mrs. McLelland, Mrs. J. D. McLelland, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hayton, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Childers and Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Salley.

Miss Wilma Parker And Sergeant Burkhart Wed

Of interest to their many friends is the announcement of the marriage of Miss Wilma Parker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Parker of this city and Sgt. James Burkhart, United States air corps, son of Mr and Mrs. U. Burkhart, also of Monroe. The ceremony was performed before an improvised altar in the home of the bride's parents, 200 McGuire avenue, Sunday, July 30, at 4 p. m., in the presence of intimate friends and relatives, with The Rev. C. E. Autrey, officiating.

UNIVERSITY OF HAVANA STUDENTS

Miss Alice Frellsen of Baskin, La., and Miss Mary Edith Breard of this city, are students during the summer term at the University of Havana where they are majoring in Spanish. The Cuban metropolis is proving to be a place filled with interest and fascination. Letters give graphic descriptions of the beauty of the scene, unusual customs and exciting experiences which these two are enjoying in addition to their study.

Numerous Biographies Now At N. J. C. Library

1500 New Books Added To Rapidly Expanding Library At Junior College

Numerous biographies are among the 1,500 new books recently added to the library at Northeast Junior College of Louisiana State University. The books now in circulation include recent biographies of people of prominence and representatives from older biographies which have won secure places in the hearts of book lovers.

Included in the classified list are volumes representing the following fields: presidents and statesmen, professional men, writers, adventurers, women, contemporary political figures, artists and musicians, miscellaneous, collective biographies and reference books.

Of special timeliness are work on contemporary political figures. This group includes "Cordell Hull," the story of a man from the Tennessee hills who became a great secretary of state, written by Harold B. Hinton; "Mr. Churchill," the new biography, done by Philip Guedalla, paints this great statesman in his full attire; "Behind the Ballots," James A. Farley, personal history of a politician; "The Autobiography of a Curmudgeon," Harold L. Ickes, in which he writes his story with as much courage as he have lived it; "I Built A Temple For Peace," by Edward B. Hitchcock, is the life of Eduard Benes, the only complete biography of the co-founder and last president of Czechoslovakia, one of the truly heroic actors in the drama of contemporary Europe.

Holding an estimable place among the current works on famous women are the following: "Soaring Wings," George Palmer Putnam, the absorbing life story of Amelia Earhart; "Log Cabin Lady," anonymous auto-biography, is the tale of a woman born in a log cabin in the northwest. At 14 she had never seen a table napkin. Yet she became known on two continents as a distinguished woman, a charming hostess. The fascinating story of her career—of the difficulties in her path and how she overcame them—has helped many to triumph over a humble background and lack of social training. "It's a Woman's Business," Estelle Hamburger, is the career of a vivid, witty and clever woman in fashion advertising, who started at the bottom of the ladder and stepped up quickly and surely until she is now executive vice-president of Jay Thorpe, one of America's most exclusive stories for women.

Hortense Odlum writes a vivid autobiography of her life from childhood in the west to the time when she became the very heart and life of a large Fifth avenue department store. This book entitled "A Woman's Place," unfold a woman's life crowded with the drama of success. She started by breaking inviolable rules—but she understood women, knew the woman's angle and her career, begun almost in despair, ended in triumph. "The Lady of Godey's" by Ruth E. Finely, is the story of the first "Lady Editor," Sarah Josepha Hale. No woman made a greater impression on her times than this lady editor who began her career at 40. Sara K. Bolton, in her "Lives of Girls Who Became Famous," describes the great careers of a list of women and tells about the remarkable things they accomplished.

Cadet Nurse Mary Anne [Nors]worthy, who is training at St. [...] Sanitarium, Monroe, spent the [week-]end with her parents, Mr. and M[rs. ...] B. Norsworthy.

With many of our necessary living expenses up, it is hard to believe that the cost of one of the most useful household conveniences has not gone up since the beginning of the war. But this is true . . . your United Gas Service has remained at prewar rates, while many other things you buy have gone up.
Remember, dependable United Gas Service, your source of natural gas for efficient cooking, water heating, and refrigeration has NOT contributed to the increased cost of living.

A.A.U.W. Announces Fellowships Awards

nd Approved To Provide Advance Research Work For 15 Women Scholars

Grants of 15 fellowships, totaling $22,750, for advanced search by women scholars in 1944-45, have been an- unced by the committee on fellowship awards of the nerican Association of University Women. This infor- tion was received by Miss Mary Clay, president of the onroe branch of the organization. These grants, most of em for $1,500, are given by units representing different ographical areas within the association.

our of the awards for 1944-45 are studies in American literature and ory. Jeannette P. Nichols, Swarth- re, Pa, will complete a book on international monetary diplomacy the United States. Louise Dauner, te University of Iowa, will prepare biographical and critical study of American poet, Edwin Arlington binson. Nelle Fuller, Norton, Mass., l make a study of the philosophy ideas of Herman Melville, par- ularly as they appear in "Moby k." "Left-Wing Literary Criticisms the United States, 1929-39," will be subject of a book by Sally Loomis, ford, Ohio.

Three of the fellowship awards em- asize inter-American interests. For first time, an AAUW fellowship l send a woman student from the ited States to Canada. Alice R. Ste- rt of Brunswick, Me., will make a dy of the imperial policy of Sir n A. MacDonald, first prime min- r of Canada and one of her great- statesmen.

nother AAUW fellow, Opal W. ss, Amarillo, Tex., will go to South nerica for the fellowship year. Miss ss receives the Aurelia Henry Rein- rdt International fellowship, given the South Pacific Unit, which ries the proviso that the holder dy in some other country than her n. Miss Nuss plans to prepare a anish-English dictionary to include ucho terms and Americanisms cur- t in the Gaucho literature which is widely popular in South America.

The AAUW Latin-American fellow- p went to Maria V. Cabrera Cardus, Paraguay, who is now on leave m the Public Health Service of raguay. Miss Cabrera Cardus will ntinue her studies in pharmacy at University of Wisconsin with the rpose, as she has stated it, "to obtain necessary technique so that upon return to Paraguay I can classify l utilize in the preparation of phar- ceutical products from certain dicinal plants, native to Paraguay, ich have not been completely uti- ed or are scientifically unknown which can be valuable with cer- n tropical diseases such as malaria d hookworm."

Miss Barbara Morris, of Clayton, is visiting Jean Gore.

Mrs. Clyde Lusk and two children, of Alabama, are visiting Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Wilgus.

Holly Hendrixson Jr., is now stationed at Camp Lure, N. C.

Roy Wagley, of United States army, arrived home Tuesday for a several days' visit with his parents.

On Monday afternoon an open meeting was called at the Methodist Church for the purpose of discussing plans for a recreation center in Ferriday. A large number of representative citizens were present and expressed their views as to the type center, location and operation. At that time Mrs. J. H. Pankey was elected chairman, Mrs. Mary Harrison, secretary, Mrs. J. S. Cross, treasurer. A committee to locate a suitable site consists of A. B. Hagle, chairman, George Galloway and Louis Jones, and a committee for finance: Louis Jones, chairman, A. E. Chauvin, E. B. Barnett and Joe Pasternack.

Mrs. Vera Davis was hostess to the Business Women's Circle of the Baptist Church Tuesday evening at the home of her mother, Mrs. B. L. Drane. Mrs. J. H. Hamilton gave the mission study.

Mrs. Lelia Foster entertained her circle of the business women of the Baptist Church Tuesday evening with 11 members present. Mrs. Richard Porter gave the program.

Sgt. Holly Hendrixson of the army air corps, recently visited his family in Ferriday after a three year absence. He is temporarily stationed in Miami, Fla. During Sgt. Hendrixson's visit he was extended many courtesies by relatives and friends, who welcomed him home.

Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Wilgus and Miss Mary Ann Wilgus have returned from a two weeks' visit in Pine Bluff, Forest City and Little Rock, Ark.

Mrs. Dan Gremillion and son, Kenneth, have returned to Ferriday after visiting relatives in Leesville, Monroe and Marksville.

Chatham

S/Sgt. Lester E. Pinion, of Monroe, now somewhere in Italy with the infantry received the Silver Star award for gallantry in action on May 31, 1944 according to news just received by his wife here.

When Sergeant Pinion's squad came under heavy hostile fire while attacking a fortified hill, he led a successful bayonet attack against the position. The attack drove the enemy from dominant terrain which constituted a vital link in the Germany defense system.

Staff Sergeant Pinion is the son of C. A. Pinion, of Monroe. His wife and son, Wayne, reside in Chatham.

Staff Sergeant Pinion entered military service in 1942.

FOUR YEARS AGO, Hans WAS IN OUR SHOES

HANS is a German. Four years ago, he felt the way many of us feel today. He thought the war was as good as won.

He had reason to think so. Far more reason than we have. France was his. England was bloody after Dunkerque. The German Army seemed invincible.

But the war wasn't almost over. And now it is our armies that are on the march. It is our bombers blasting German cities. Victory is in our grasp. It's up to us to see that we don't let it slip through our fingers the way Hans did.

Most of us know that this is the military crisis of this war—the time when our fighting men must give everything they have, not once in a while but hour after hour—day after day.

But this alone is not enough. The lives of brave men are not enough. Money is needed too.

For this is the financial crisis of the war just as surely as it is the military crisis. Millions of dollars' worth of equipment is being destroyed in battle. The money to replace it must come from us, and come quickly.

If every last one of us here at home will try to match the constant, day-to-day drive of the men who fight our battles, we'll raise that money.

The way to do it is to put every cent we can possibly invest into U. S. War Bonds. Not some of us. All of us. Not once in a while during a drive, but regularly . . . every pay day.

Can we do the job that Hans couldn't do? Can we—voluntarily—keep making sacrifices when Victory seems just around the corner? The answer is up to you.

And here are 5 more reasons for buying Extra War Bonds!

1. War Bonds are the best, the safest investment in the world!
2. War Bonds return you $4 for every $3 in 10 years.
3. War Bonds help keep prices down.
4. War Bonds will help win the Peace by increasing purchasing power after the war.
5. War Bonds mean education for your children, security for you, funds for retirement.

WHAT'S THE MATTER, BURMA, ARE YOU SORE AT ME?
NAW, TERRY, I GUESS I GOT OUT ON THE WRONG SIDE OF THE FOXHOLE TODAY!
I POSED AS MISS CHEDDO, WILLOW BELINDA'S TUTOR, AND TOLD YOUR C.O. THE LAND THIS FIGHTER STRIP OCCUPIES BELONGS TO THE KID... SO HE WOULDN'T EVACUATE US TO INDIA, WHERE THE BRITISH POLICE WANT ME FOR PIRACY...
THAT DARN PIRACY THING! THAT WAS YEARS AGO – ALONG THE CHINA COAST – AND BESIDES, I NEVER BELIEVED IT IN THE FIRST PLACE!
YOU'RE SWEET, TERRY — BUT I FORGOT... I WAS GOING TO RACK YOU BACK FOR GIVING WILLOW BELINDA STAR DUST IN THE EYES!
IF I WERE DUMB ENOUGH TO THINK YOU WERE JEALOUS OF WILLOW, I'D BE FLATTERED... BUT WHY KID MYSELF?... I'M NOT IN YOUR LEAGUE!
HEY, MISTER, DON'T SELL YOUR OLD SIDE-KICK DOWN THE RIVER! — AFTER ALL WE'VE BEEN THROUGH, WE HAVE A SORT OF UNDERSTANDING, DON'T WE?
AW, SURE...

by CHESTER GOULD
I LEFT THE BEACH TO GET A SWEATER THAT WAS IN MY CAR. I NOTICED A MAN REMOVING MY LICENSE PLATES.
I WAS EXCITED AND ANGRY! WHEN I SPOKE HE HIT ME WITH SOMETHING — A WRENCH, I GUESS.
WHEN TESS DIDN'T COME BACK TO THE BEACH WE CAME UP TO LOOK FOR HER.
PARDON ME — I'M THE DRUGGIST ACROSS THE PARK. I HAPPENED TO BE LOOKING THIS WAY WHEN THE LICENSE THIEF JUMPED IN HIS CAR AND SWUNG AROUND TO THE FRONT OF MY STORE!
HE PICKED UP A MAN IN BATHING TRUNKS WHO HAD BEEN USING A PHONE IN MY PLACE.
AS THE FELLOW RAN TO GET INTO THE CAR, A TOWEL HE WAS WEARING OVER HIS HEAD BLEW OFF. HE WAS HIDEOUS! HE HAD NO EARS — AND BIG WRINKLES IN HIS BROW.
WHAT?
TEN MINUTES LATER — RADIO ROOM OF STATE POLICE.
IT WAS A CALL FROM DICK TRACY — HE WANTS A FLASH SENT OUT TO ALL CARS ON THIS STOLEN LICENSE.
STILL LATER
WITH THAT DAME'S "B" COUPONS AND HER LICENSE PLATES, BUYING GAS IS A CINCH. WE'RE ALL SET.
HEY. LOOK! WHAT'S THIS?
IT'S A STATE POLICE CAR! KEEP ROLLING — BUT NOT TOO FAST.
POLICE
HEY. BROW! THEY'VE STOPPED! THEY'RE TURNING AROUND.
WHAT?
THERE'S A DIP IN THE ROAD HERE. SLOW DOWN! I'M GETTING OUT. YOU KEEP GOING! ALL THEY'LL HAVE ON YOU IS A STOLEN LICENSE PLATE CHARGE! BUT ME — I'M HOT!

QUEEN DESIRA HOLDS COURT: "TRICO, I AM REWARDING YOU WITH A PARDON FOR ALL YOUR PAST·· AND FUTURE·· CRIMES." THE THIEF HESITATES: "NO, THAT WOULD TAKE ALL THE FUN AWAY!"
FLASH LAUGHS: "A WELL-EARNED SOUVENIR, DESIRA!"
"WHAT REWARD DO YOU WANT?" SHE ASKS GUNDAR. HE SAYS BOLDLY, "I PLANNED ONCE TO STEAL YOUR KINGDOM, BUT YOU STOLE MY HEART. SO··· MARRY ME!"
"AND WHAT CAN I DO FOR YOU, FLASH, WHO REALLY SAVED MY KINGDOM?" HE SMILES: "MARRY GUNDAR. THEN GIVE ME A TRIPHIBIAN ROCKET TO START BACK TO MONGO."
COPR. 1944, KING FEATURES SYNDICATE, Inc. WORLD RIGHTS RESERVED
AND SO, DESPITE DESIRA'S OFFER OF HALF A KINGDOM, IF THEY'LL STAY, DALE AND FLASH SET FORTH IN A SPEEDY TRIPHIBIAN THAT CAN DRIVE, SWIM OR FLY. "I CAN'T WAIT TO SEE MONGO AGAIN, DEAR," DALE MURMURS

Tarzan
by EDGAR RICE BURROUGHS
THE OUTCAST
TARZAN GAZED IN AMAZEMENT AT THE GHOST-LIKE BEAST BEFORE HIM. NEVER HAD HE SEEN A GREAT APE OF SUCH PECULIAR HUE.
THE BEAST ALIGHTED ON THE APE-MAN'S BRANCH. BARING ITS FANGS THE CREATURE ADVANCED TOWARD TARZAN AND CHALLENGED HIM:
"BULAK KING HERE. KA-GODA-- SURRENDER OR DIE!" BUT THE APE-MAN ANSWERED, "NAL-GODA-- TARZAN NEVER SURRENDERS."
THEN HE ADDED, "IF YOU ARE KING HERE, WHERE IS YOUR TRIBE?"
A HIDEOUS SCREAM OF RAGE BURST FROM THE BEAST'S JAWS. WITH DEMONIAC FURY THE APE FLEW AT TARZAN.
THE JUNGLE LORD TENSED, AND SENT A SMASHING BLOW STRAIGHT FOR BULAK'S JAW.
THE APE STOPPED SHORT-- SHUDDERED-- AND TOPPLED FROM THE TREE LIKE A STONE.
IN A FLASH TARZAN SWUNG TO THE GROUND WHERE THE APE LAY STUNNED. RAISING THE BEAST GENTLY, THE APE-MAN REVIVED HIM.
A LOOK OF CONFUSION AND PAIN FILLED BULAK'S EYES AS HE REGAINED CONSCIOUSNESS. A LOW CRY ESCAPED HIS LIPS.
Distr. by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.
"BULAK HAS FAILED," HE MOANED. "BULAK HAS NO TRIBE. NOW BULAK DIE--- KA-GODA!"
TARZAN WAS FULL OF COMPASSION FOR THE STRANGE-LOOKING BEAST WHO WAS AN OUTCAST, A FRIENDLESS WANDERER OF THE JUNGLE.
HOGARTH.
THE JUNGLE LORD SMILED. "BULAK NOT DIE! TARZAN BULAK'S FRIEND. COME--WE GO TOGETHER!"
